Council Views New City Hall

City construction projects will be reviewed by the City Council Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Howard Parker, architect, is slated to outline his proposal for the new city hall to be built on Avenue K. The facility and additional parking will be located adjacent to the present structure which will be renovated for office space.

An architect for the Schimelpfenig Public Library to be located on Custer Road at Spring Creek will also be chosen.

Council members are also expected to approve a $885,895 contract with Howard U. Freeman Inc. for the construction of a second natatorium. The covered pool will be located on Westside Drive, on the campus of Plano Senior High.

The council may also purchase a 1200-square foot metal building for the recreation department. The structure will be located adjacent to the present building in Harrington Park.

Two public hearings are scheduled for Monday. W. Lee Moore has asked that 57.3 acres on the southeast corner of the extension of Jupiter Road and Parker Road be rezoned from agriculture to residential and retail.

Plano Honda is seeking a special use permit to sell cars received in trade-in at the store on US 75 about 570 feet north of FM 544.

In other action, the council will consider disannexing 48.341 acres in the R.C. Whisenant Survey, authorize the issuance of $525,000 in certificates of obligation for various purchases and approve specifications on the items.

Two temporary building requests are before the council. Jessie Hall plans to use a structure at 917 Avenue K as storage for tools and C.E. Williams wants a permit north of Gibson's for the show and sale of temporary buildings.

The staff will also review policies on the improvement of major thoroughfares which have state highway designation.

Other items on the agenda are the October tax report, the review of plans and specifications for salvaging five sewage pump stations and the installation of one sewage pump station at the service center, consideration of bids for the official newspaper and the final payment to Howard Freeman for alley paving improvements in Dallas North Estates.

Teachers Honored At PISD Reception

Becky Austin, Plano's "Teacher of the Year" and second runner-up in the state "Teacher of the Year" competition will be honored along with all the schools' teachers of the year at a reception at 4 p.m. on Wednesday at Armstrong Middle School, 3805 Timberline.

Mrs. Austin is a physical education teacher and coach at Armstrong Middle School and has also taught at Williams High School and Wilson Middle School.

The reception will be hosted by members of the Plano Education Association (PEA). All school district personnel and friends of the honorees are invited to attend.

"We are hoping for a large turnout this year of school district employees," PEA president Jim Dickson said. "Since Mrs. Austin has taught at three Plano schools, we hope that many of her students, former students and friends will attend."

Accidents Increase In County

For the first nine months of 1977 Collin County has experienced a marked increase in motor vehicle traffic accidents.

As of September 1, there have been 12 fatal accidents killing 14 persons, 141 injury accidents causing injuries to one or more persons in each, and 321 non-injury accidents.

This marks a 140 percent increase over last year in fatal accidents, a 133 percent increase in deaths and a 27 percent increase in injury accidents.

Hospital Corporation of America officers were in Plano Friday to tour Plano General Hospital, an HCA facility. The Board of Governors, an active group of practicing physicians, came along on the visit to advise management about professional, medical and technical matters that affect patient care. Leading the group of 25 doctors from Tennessee were Dr. Thomas F. Frist Jr., far left, and Dr. Thomas Frist Sr., far right. Chairman of the Plano Board of Trustees Ken Lambert, seated, and Administrator James A. Epps greeted the group. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

Executives See PGH Progress

The chief executive officers and governing board of Hospital Corporation of America were in Plano Friday to view the progress of the company's local facility in the 18 months since its opening.

Plano General Hospital which opened in March of 1975 now has a staff of 200 Metroplex doctors. When the 200-bed facility opened, only seven doctors had Plano offices. Now, 52 doctors are housed in Plano.

Dr. Thomas Frist Sr., vice chairman of the board and chief medical officer, said he was very encouraged by the growth; since he, his son (Dr. Thomas Frist Jr.) and another doctor founded HCA to foster quality health care.

"The patient comes first," he stressed. "We felt if we rendered quality care with thoughtfulness and the patients in mind, the profit would come second. We haven't made that profit here yet, but the quality care has encouraged doctors to move here that never would have otherwise."

Frank and Friend

Frank N. Stein and his hairy friend (who double as Jaycees David Gibson and Kelly Hathaway when the moon goes down) are ready to scare the daylight out of visitors to the Jaycees' Haunted House, located at 1709 Avenue H. The community project will be open from 7:30-11 p.m. tonight and Oct. 28-31. Admission to the gruesome event is $1 per person. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

Plan Tells What's In Store for Plano

Comprehensive Guide Accommodates Rapid Growth Toward City's Westside

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of seven articles explaining what is included in the 1977 Comprehensive Plan for Community Structure and what it means to the city.

BY PAM TROBOY

A glimpse into the future is on sale at city hall.

The city isn't violating its own ordinance against soothsaying, just projecting development which can be expected to occur.

Plano's "Comprehensive Plan for Community Structure" was recently updated by Consultant Marvin Springer after almost a year of sessions with the City Council, Planning and Zoning Commission, city employees and major developers.

"The comprehensive plan gives the city a guide as to where it's going," explained Bob Buffington, city planner. "We have to plan ahead. If we have a good idea of what we want to achieve and how we can get there, the city avoids waste and gets there faster and cheaper."

"The plan is not rigid," he added. "It is updated yearly with major revisions every five years or so. We modify the master plan because of a change in circumstances or because we become more knowledgeable."

This year's rewrite, the first major revision since 1973, was made necessary by the city's rapid growth toward the west.

The 1973 plan went no further than Plano Parkway with few details west of Preston Road. Recently, however, developers began pushing major subdivisions west of Coit Road through the planning process.

Officials recognized that with the early 1978 extension of water and sewer service into the White Rock Creek Basin, more developers would be asking for approval of projects.

The newest document extends the planning area to the Denton County line. Most of the changes occur west of Coit Road with a few roads in the remainder of the city realigned.

"The comprehensive plan is very strong in planning for a street system," Buffington stressed. "Streets are the basic determinant of a city. Roads serve as a framework."

"If we can plan the roads ahead of time," he continued, "We have a good handle on how the city grows. We're planning now for streets that will be built 10 years from now."

Highest Priority

The highest street priority is the construction of a freeway along the route designated as the north leg of Loop 9.

Acknowledging that Loop 9 is not a strong possibility, Springer's report stresses the need for a highway at least up to expressway standards with interchanges to important north-south thoroughfares.

The extension of Spring Creek Parkway to SH 121 on the west and SH 78 on the east is also a high priority. With the improvements, the parkway could become an important link to Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport and Interstate 30 near Rockwall.

Other north-south, east-west thoroughfares have already been established in the 1973 report. The only major additions are roads paralleling Preston Road on the west and east and a street parallel to Central Expressway.

High Density Corridors

These parallels are expected to serve as boundaries between high density and low density land uses. Within the Preston corridor, the plan projects apartment, retail, commercial and industrial uses.

Commercial, retail and industrial uses are also anticipated in the area between Central and its parallel.

The remainder of the city retains its residential flavor with retail concentrated at intersections of major thoroughfares and along SH 121. Industrial property is also shown on either side of Dallas North Parkway.

Open space has not been neglected. The plan urges the continuation of sharing park and school sites to get the maximum use out of the land.

The placement of parks and community open spaces also helps create a framework for future development. Springer notes that although the importance of open space is not now fully recognized, the open areas will become more important than the street system in determining the character and amenities of Plano.

Public building areas are also provided in the plan. Some like the city hall are in a generally central location to the entire city while others like fire stations serve particular areas.

Although no site is recommended, the Springer report urges the early selection of a location for a community center. He points out that as Plano continues to grow, a flexible community auditorium building will be needed for assemblies and other cultural, art and social activities.

Downtown Plano

Downtown Plano is treated separately in the plan. The 1977 report again includes a wider area as the expanded Central Business District.

Springer predicts that the original downtown area will become increasingly competitive with other developments. Admitting that major retail functions are less significant in downtown, the plan stresses the need to retain some retailing to service other uses which will be in the area.

Buffington noted that some existing zoning is not shown on the map of future land uses because planners believe that it is not proper or probable at its current location.

There has not been any "down zoning," he stressed. The plan is really not concerned with zoning at all except in the comparison of high density and low density.

The only thing certain about the plan is that it will change. As property is zoned and developed, it becomes a part of the comprehensive plan.

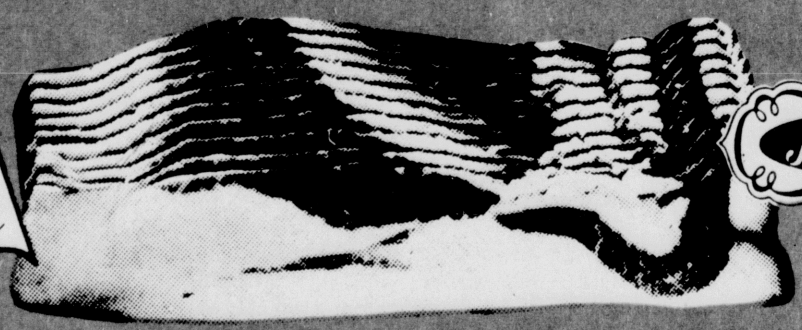

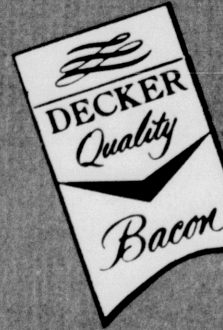

"The plan is a guideline," Buffington reminded. "As economic conditions change and the city grows, we will see the plan is no longer valid and change it. We try to be as accurate as we can, but since we're not equipped with a crystal ball, we just go with the changes."

The rapid growth of Plano's westside has necessitated an update of the city's master plan. The plan, which was developed after almost a year of conferences with Planning Consultant Marvin Springer, the City Council, the Planning and Zoning Commission, city employees and major developers, helps city officials decide where streets, parks, schools and public buildings are needed. Developers also use the plan to create cohesive subdivisions and shopping centers. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

CRIME & JUSTICE

COURSES BY NEWSPAPER

Police Add Social Order

Control, Freedom Upheld Through History

(Editor's Note: This is the tenth in a series of 15 articles exploring "Crime and Justice in America." The articles, developed for "Courses by Newspaper," are being used in conjunction with the criminal justice classes of Dr. Geoffrey Alpert, assistant professor at the University of Texas at Dallas.)

BY JEROME H. SKOLNICK

Police are often regarded as the thin blue line between anarchy and order—and there is some truth to that notion.

Whenever police services have been removed from a city—as when police strike—crime has risen, although not always by as much as expected. Still, it has risen enough to make most citizens uncomfortable.

There is no question that police perform an essential public service. Yet the first formal police department in the Anglo-American countries was not instituted until 1829, in London.

England had sorely needed a major police force for three-quarters of a century. The industrial revolution had encouraged migration to the cities.

Unemployment and economic hardships following the Napoleonic wars led to widespread riots and protests over the climbing price of food. And the rise in urban crime reduced safety in streets and homes.

"Society," wrote one historian of the period, "was in violent transition."

Still, most Englishmen—from Tories through Radicals—expressed greater fear of police than of crime and riots. Parliamentary commissions considered and rejected the police idea in 1770, 1793, 1812, 1818, 1822 and 1828.

At the time, police on the European continent were often oppressive, corrupt and arbitrary—and seemed the relevant model for England. The problem was, as it always is for a society valuing political freedom, how to reconcile governmental power with individual freedom.

FREEDOM AND ORDER

Sir Robert Peel, the Home Secretary, addressed the dilemma in several ways: First he spent several years reforming the criminal law before introducing his Police Act in 1829. He realized that the new police would not be successful if required to enforce inconsistent, irrational or exceedingly punitive laws.

Peel and his associates also distinguished the police from the army—feared and mistrusted by the populace—in two respects: Scotland Yard would not accept applications from senior military men for ranking positions in the new police.

Moreover, the "Bobbies," as they came affectionately to be known after Sir Robert, were not to carry firearms. Deadly weapons were for the external enemies encountered by the army. The police regulated citizens and required guns only for emergencies.

Still, the new police were trained to be and to look authoritative. Uniformed police were carefully instructed to be fair and impartial. Force, when used, was to be measured, limited and minimal.

Finally, and most importantly, Peel established the linked ideas of police accountability and public support. Just as police ranks were to be drawn from the class of working people to insure citizen support, police were to be accountable for their actions to Parliament and the courts.

These linked ideas—legal accountability and public support—were the tools to resolve the dilemma between freedom and order.

Although America was also a "free society" with laws and institutions modeled on England's, no American police department was so carefully planned and organized as Scotland Yard.

The first full-time United States police force was formed in Boston in 1837, after roving bands of Protestant rioters destroyed nearly every Irish home on Broad Street.

AMERICA'S SPECIAL PROBLEMS
Unlike the English police prior to the 1960s, American police, from the 1830s to the 1970s, have been involved with often tragic ethnic and racial conflict. This has generated special problems for American policing.

For example, New York City experienced a riot in 1900 that grew out of competition between Irish and blacks for jobs and living space. The police did not stop the white rioters who were beating the blacks, they joined them.

In a country with a history of immigration, rapid territorial and economic expansion, and slavery, the quality of law enforcement has often depended upon the question "whose law, whose order?"

THE POLICE FUNCTION
Nor has the police function ever been clear in the United States, either to the police themselves or to the general public. Most police like to think of themselves as crime fighters.

Studies have shown, however, that about 80 percent of a police officer's time is spent providing a wide variety of community services and peacekeeping functions such as giving directions, handling traffic accidents and resolving family disputes. Less than 20 percent of an average patrolman's time is spent on crime-related activities.

Police enforce the criminal law by arresting violators and providing prosecutors with evidence, so as to lead to a conviction—no easy assignment.

But police are not usually able to catch criminals in the act. That is why the recent "sting" tactics, where police pretended to "fence" stolen goods but actually photographed the seller and tagged his wares, have been so successful. These records show exactly who did what crime, where and when.

Ordinarily, police must rely on street informants—themselves involved in crime—for information about crime. In return, police can offer the informant immunity from arrest or some other "break" in the administration of justice.

This practice creates serious problems about the equity and efficiency of police procedures.

Once conducted a study of vice detectives and burglary detectives in a respected urban police department. The vice detectives used burglars as informers and did not inquire about their burglaries, while burglary detectives used addicts as informers and ignored their drug offenses.

POLICE DISCRETION
Since police departments have limited resources, police must employ considerable discretion in carrying out responsibilities.

Police chiefs set priorities, employing personal values and departmental standards to govern conduct. Every student of police agrees that this police "culture" heavily influences how police conduct themselves on the job.

Often, police employ discretion sensibly and responsibly. At other times, discretion can deteriorate into police malpractice. Malpractice refers to a broader spectrum of behavior than police corruption.

Corruption normally suggests the sale of official authority for personal gain, whereas malpractice includes not only corruption but also mistreatment of prisoners, discrimination, illegal searches, perjury, planting evidence and other misconduct committed under the authority of law enforcement.

Police culture—especially unwritten codes of conduct and solidarity—is of critical importance here. New York's Knapp Commission found in 1972, contrary to public thinking, New York police corruption, no worse than in many other city police departments, was not attributable solely to "rotten apples." Where malpractice exists, it usually spans entire police departments.

Policemen everywhere experience feelings of isolation, public rejection and hostility in a job characterized by danger, authority, and the pressure to produce.

Consequently, policemen build up intense feelings of group loyalty, coupled with deep suspicion of outside interference.

In most American police departments there is a stubborn refusal at all levels to acknowledge that malpractice problems exist, especially corruption.

In the long run, the police themselves, the community and victims of crime will best be served by police accountability for the quality of their policies and work. Television programs to the contrary notwithstanding, the U.S. Constitution does not envision police as asphalt cowboys, riding herd on crime and disorder in the central cities.

Police are government officials, armed by law, whose monopoly on force is a public trust in a free and democratic society. They fail when they are transformed into distant and mobile authorities, encased in vehicles, remote from the communities they serve.

Sir Robert Peel understood that when he created the first Western democratic police organization. His ideas about how to reconcile policing and freedom—in periods of rising crime and social turbulence—scarcely seem dated.

(The views expressed in "Courses by Newspaper" are those of the authors only and do not necessarily reflect those of the University of California, the funding agencies or the participating newspapers and colleges.

House Picks Collins For Energy Group

The Speaker's Office announced today that Congressman Jim Collins of Dallas has been selected to serve on the House Conference Committee for President Carter's Energy Bill.

The Conference Committee, which will try to hammer out differences between the House and Senate versions of the bill, will begin its work next week.

House Minority Leader John Rhodes, who selected Collins as one of eight Republicans nationwide to serve on the Conference Committee, praised Collins' appointment, saying, "We are extremely proud to have Jim Collins on this Conference Committee.

"The work this committee does will probably be more important than any previous consideration given the Energy Bill, and Jim's grasp of complex energy issues will be a major asset to both the minority and majority. He has been an invaluable leader in the fight to deregulate natural gas and pass an Energy Bill that stimulates domestic production."

There are wide differences between the House and Senate versions of the Energy Bill. One major difference is Senate support for the deregulation of natural gas. The House has previously voted to not only continue controls on interstate gas, but also to extend those controls to the intrastate market.

"Texans have a vital interest in this Energy Bill," Collins said, "because oil and gas are our biggest industries. I fully support the positions the Senate has taken on this bill and plan to work in Conference to insure their survival. The Senate recognized the President's bill for just what it is—a major tax increase that discourages development for new energy supplies."

The Third District Congressman, who has won praise from his colleagues for his efforts to deregulate natural gas, will deal exclusively with that issue in the Conference.

PAIN IN THE PECTORIS

Last week we were talking about how angina pectoris (or simply angina), is caused by the heart not getting as much oxygenated blood as it feels it should have.

Of all the different diagnostic tools for determining if a person has angina, the use of an electrocardiogram is the easiest to accomplish. It is not only easy but also quick and painless. Unfortunately while you are lying there resting, the heart doesn't need much oxygen so it doesn't hurt and 50 percent to 75 percent of the people with a certain kind of angina show up with a normal ecg. However, you get a whole different picture when you have a stress ecg. This is where they have a person ride a stationary bicycle or walk on a treadmill and just about work the dog out of him.

The treatment of angina is mostly symptomatic. In other words if you quit doing the things that cause pain, then the pain will quit. Unfortunately a lot of the causes can include everything a person likes to do such as eating heavy meals, getting emotionally upset, performing strenuous activities, drinking caffeine (as in colas, coffee and tea) and, of course smoking our old enemy cigarettes.

As far as treatment goes the chemical group of nitrates have been around for years and work as good or better than anything else for the relief of the chest pain. Of this group nitroglycerine is by far the best known.

There are quite a few things about nitroglycerine that bug the research scientist. First it has been around so long that it can't be called a new wonder drug; it doesn't cost very much; but the thing that really gets 'em is they don't know how it works. Course when they don't know how something works everyone comes up with their own theory. After reading through several of these theories I got so confused that I didn't know which end was up—so I came to my own conclusion. I decided that I didn't really know how nitroglycerine works. I do know that it relieves the pain and that it does so extremely well.

Well, tomorrow is moving day. It's easy to tell, because here it is 4 p.m. Friday and I'm just getting to my writing chore. Friday is always one of my busiest days, but this one has been particularly trying. It's a good thing there is only one Friday a week.

We're not through with our little building project. We're just through the first phase. Actually, we have to remodel the inside of the present building now, and then complete the face-lift outside. It should really be something when we get all finished.

This has been a day with telephone men working all over the building, with last minute plans and clean-up. I had to go buy furniture for the lobby, which is a luxury we have never had before. But, that's enough of that nonsense.

I was tickled a few days ago to hear Judge White comment that he was the one that was the big loser in the wet-dry election. He said after the election he discovered to his dismay that the County Judge is the one who has to issue the permits.

+++++

I think it was right thoughty of the congress to pass a law that it's all right to work until you're 70. By the time I reach that age, there won't be any money left in the social security fund anyway, and even if there is, inflation will have advanced the cost of living to a point which will force me to keep working anyway. Now, if I can just get those fellows to pass a law that makes it OK to just work till you die, I'll be all set.

The state comptroller has recently sent along another sales tax check, and we note that the total this year is up 50 percent over the same period last year. That attests to the strength of retail sales in the City. Just think what the total would be if we could capture the 40 percent of the retail sales potential that is going out of town.

Watch the Daily Star-Courier this next week for announcement of a couple of innovations we believe will permit us to serve the community better. The plans are made, but the dates aren't firm so we can't announce them yet.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

Preventing Identity Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I am endowed, as is a small percentage of other journalists, with a facility known as "news cohesion."

Simply stated, this means that news items that are unrelated or tenuously associated at best tend to stick together in my mind.

Recently I came across two items that had only postal service in common. One was the announcement that the U.S. Postal Service is renewing its policy of closing rural post offices that don't pay their way.

That program was suspended last year, mainly because of fears that small towns could lose their community identities if they lost their post offices.

In announcing resumption of the closings, postal officials promised they would do everything possible to help the small towns stay on the map.

The other item in question reported that rising postal rates were causing some places in England to consider using homing pigeons to deliver mail, messages and small packages.

Instantly, these two items were clinging to each other like a nylon sock to a drip-dry shirt.

What we need now is a law that whenever the Postal Service shuts down a rural post office, it must provide the community with a flock of pigeons as a replacement.

Talk about community identity! No village or hamlet need fear becoming a geographic nonentity as long as it has its own homing pigeons.

Letters sent by regular mail to, say, Mt. Molehill, Neb., could easily wind up in Clods, N.M., with or without a post office. But a message carried by a Mt. Molehill homing pigeon is going to wind up in Mt. Molehill, no matter what.

Pigeons have been known to fly more than a thousand miles through sleet and snow and gloom of night to return to their home lofts.

But identity isn't everything. There also is the matter of home town pride.

Some communities undoubtedly would consider a pigeon loft less prestigious than a post office.

That blow to community ego could be avoided by upgrading the base from which the pigeons operate.

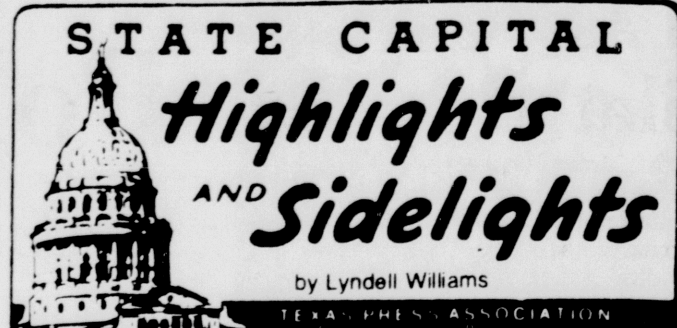

In addition to their homing instincts pigeons have a natural inclination to perch on statues in parks, city squares and other public places.

Very well. In addition to providing a community with pigeons in lieu of a post office, the Postal Service should be required to erect a statue for them to land on.

Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar would be an appropriate subject for the sculpture.

Having a bronze or marble statue of its own should more than compensate a community for the loss of its post office.

And when the home folks see what the pigeons do to Bailar's effigy, it will reaffirm their faith in poetic justice.

AUSTIN—Whether rural land can be taxed on the basis of its productivity alone is the subject of a furious round of capitol debate.

House Speaker Bill Clayton set it off when he wrote in his newspaper column that local tax officials should implement a bill providing the tax break for farmers and ranchers January 1. He acknowledged there may be questions raised as to its constitutionality.

Three liberal legislators fired off an answering salvo that the bill was passed contingent on adoption of a constitutional amendment that did not get through the legislature. Without the constitutional change, they claimed, the bill cannot order open space lands valued on a basis other than market worth.

The lawmakers also charged Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Comptroller Bob Bullock with being in on the effort to put over the tax break. Briscoe said he was having no part in the controversy, but Bullock jumped into the fray charging two of the critical legislators voted repeatedly for the bill. The comptroller said he is assigned by law to prepare appraisal manuals for taxing authorities and that is what he will do.

The legislators said the proposed amendment failed because Briscoe and Clayton went along with extending the tax break to major industrial corporations, timber and lumber companies.

Clayton said he or somebody else may ask the attorney general for an opinion as to whether the law can be implemented without amending the constitution.

Crude Oil Stored

Crude oil is now being stored in the Bryan Mound Salt Dome two miles south of Freeport.

The dome is the second underground salt cavern filled with salt water to serve in the oil storage program which calls for squirreling away of 250,000 barrels by 1978, 500 million by 1980 and a billion barrels by 1985. First storage was at West Hackberry, La., near Lake Charles. More than two million barrels already have been put in the ground there.

The Texas dome has a rated capacity of 63 million barrels, West Hackberry about 61 million.

Cost of underground storage is about a sixth the cost of above ground reservoirs.

A billion barrel reserve would last the U.S. about 10 months at the rate of withdrawal of three million barrels a day.

Texas Courts Speak

The Texas Supreme Court set a December 14 hearing on a case involving the issue of whether businesses must pay penalties for technical violations of the state consumer credit code and federal truth in lending act even though no damage is shown.

The Court of Criminal Appeals said a Limestone County man charged with murder is entitled to bail.

It's up to the State Board of Law Examiners to decide whether a man convicted seven years ago of defiling the U.S. flag is eligible to take the state Bar exam to become a lawyer, the Third Court of Civil Appeals held.

The Court of Criminal Appeals found a Wood County man's probation should not have been revoked, because there was no evidence he knew a man he accepted a ride with in an auto was a "disreputable character."

Letters To The Editor:

Oct. 17, 1977

Dear Editor:

I have a complaint directed to the animal control department. My parents have lived in Plano for twenty-five years in the same house. Across the street from them is a vacant house. Under the house is all open. So it was that three little dogs found their way there and made it their home. But not for long. Mother said that for two or three weeks the dog pound man came every day. She watched as the man stooped down and pointed the gun at the dogs. One time she saw the boy that was helping drag out a baseball bat. It crippled two of the dogs.

Whether it was the tranquilizer gun or whether they were hit with the bat, I don't know. But I do know that the dogs hobbled around. I don't understand why anyone would call the pound on these dogs. They never bothered anyone. Also, one of the dogs had a collar on. I thought the pound was supposed to keep the dogs for three days before disposing of them.

Yours truly,

What Other Newspapers Are Saying

By United Press International
San Francisco Chronicle:

President Carter's attack on the oil companies for their opposition to his energy plan was no doubt calculated to build up public opinion behind his proposals for wellhead taxes, which are strongly resisted by the industry...

In accusing the industry of seeking "the biggest ripoff in history" he was accusing a majority of the Senate of aiding and abetting it. There will be considerable resentment of this in the Senate to match that which already has been expressed by the industry. Yet since, as we say, Mr. Carter's was a calculated blast, he must have felt that he would gain more in popular support from berating the oil men in their efforts to evade the wellhead taxes which the administration wants to impose and collect than he would lose from senators offended by his diatribe.

Scripps-Howard Newspapers:

It is doubtful that President Carter did himself or his tattered energy bill any good by his intemperate attack on the oil industry...

What disturbs us in Carter's outburst is what it tells about himself, his judgement and his intolerance of conflicting viewpoints...

This country admittedly faces a desperate need to reduce its use of foreign oil, which will drain $45 billion out of the economy this year. Unfortunately, Carter did not help find a solution by antagonizing senators and casting a key industry in the role of greedy villain.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

President Carter increasingly has shown a stubborn streak which causes him to try to blame others for mistakes that rightfully belong to him.

This unfortunate characteristic has surfaced again as he attempted to make the oil and gas industries scapegoats for the mangling his energy program has taken in the Senate.

His charge that the oil and gas industries are about to pull off "the biggest ripoff in history" was pure demagoguery.

The claim that the industries will make $100 billion a year in 1985 if his program were passed, and $150 billion a year if oil and gas company demands are met is equally ridiculous. Not even energy specialists who chart profits as their business can guess where the President got these figures. They don't appear related to any studies or data with which these authorities are familiar.

Because of the high office he holds, Mr. Carter has a duty to provide sound leadership. Many people, respectful of his office, attach more value to his remarks than they deserve...

It is hoped the public won't be fooled by Mr. Carter's wild charges. He is frustrated. But the frustration is of his own making. He seemed to recognize what needed to be done during the campaign. But since coming to the White House he has fallen under the spell of the technocrats and bureaucrats who worship controls.

Tulsa World:

From a distance, all oil companies must look the same. To a politician from a non-petroleum producing State, there seems to be no difference between Exxon with its billions and the Hardy Able Producing Co., operating a stripper lease near Punkin Center, Okla.

And therein lies one of the basic flaws of the Carter energy program. It assumes that its artificial price manipulations will affect the entire petroleum industry the same. It won't. In a hearing before the Senate Finance Committee, Union Oil Co. of California took issue with the Administration's statement that oil companies, as a group, are "awash with cash" and have all the financial resources they need to push ahead.

While a few of the companies — especially the five international giants — may indeed have surplus cash flows and the capacity to support large amounts of debt, a Union spokesman said, "most of the nation's domestic oil companies are not in such a fortunate position."

The Union statement explains that in oil, as in other industries, larger companies also enjoy better bond ratings and easier access to other forms of credit than smaller firms on the average.

The point is that a handicap system, as proposed by Carter, will not affect all companies equally, and may, in fact, help the big at the expense of the small ones.

Los Angeles Times:

His was one of the most unmistakably recognizable voices in the world, one of the most frequently heard, and one of the most popular. Scores of other singers tried to imitate that voice even as they sought to copy the smooth, effortless, understated style that accompanied it. None of them, though, could ever come close to capturing his distinctive vocal quality or achieving his durable and merited success. There was, and there always will be, only one Bing Crosby.

The relaxed and mellow Crosby style influenced two generations of ballad singers, and gave pleasure and entertainment to a worldwide audience. Crosby's recordings, numbering in the hundreds, frequently were supersellers. To many, he represented what popular music ideally should be.

For nearly 20 years Crosby was a fixture of radio broadcasting, and for decades he was a star of films...

Bing Crosby's death greatly diminishes the world of American popular entertainment, for he was truly one of its distinguished, historic and beloved figures. But, more than that, it has caused millions who never met him but who nonetheless believed that they knew him well to feel that they have lost a cherished friend.

Crosby titled his autobiography, published 24 years ago, "Call Me Lucky." The lucky ones, we think, were really those he entertained for so long, and so well.

Tulsa World:

Should students have to maintain a minimum passing grade average to graduate from high school?

That perhaps doesn't sound like a revolutionary idea but it apparently is foreign enough to contemporary education that its requirement for graduation by a small North Carolina school system has made the national wire services.

School officials in Newton, N.C. — tired of being told by employers that many Newton high school graduates couldn't read nor write — have decided to require the C average.

The move brought a predictable reaction from Frances Quinto of the National Education Association: "It's too simple a solution for such a complex question. Why, even colleges are backing off from grade point requirements for graduation."

Is there perhaps a connection between that kind of feeling toward achievement (and achievement is reflected in grades, regardless of how repugnant that idea is to some) and the steadily declining performances of not only high school but college graduates?

After the smoke clears from the arguments of the professional educationists, the basic function of a school system still should be to offer knowledge in as an attractive package as possible, measure the amounts of it individuals have been able to absorb and publish the results.

Raising the grade requirement for a high school diploma to a C average isn't a bad idea.

Sacramento Bee:

A jury in Miami, Fla., has rejected an unprecedented defense in a murder case — that the 15-year-old defendant was not accountable for his act because of "intoxication" from prolonged watching of television violence.

It is fortunate that the facts in the particular case did not, in the jurors' minds, support this novel defense.

... however ... the Miami case ... does invite concern about the level of unnecessary violence in television.

Does the wanton depiction of violence tend to blunt human sensibilities and distort perceptions of life? Does it, as some studies suggest, tend to reinforce violent attitudes, especially among the young... violence cannot be totally eliminated from TV, of course. It exists in the real world and is natural in drama. What is questionable is the depiction of violence for the sake of shock or titillation.

It seems undeniable that this can have some degree of influence on some minds, even if not to the extent of excusing murder or other violent acts. And to say that it does not excuse such acts is not to say it has no bearing upon them whatever.

TAB Conference Slated in Dallas

TAB Means Business is the theme of the 55th Annual Conference of Business and Industry, scheduled Wednesday through Friday, October 26-28, in The Registry Hotel in Dallas.

Sponsored by the Texas Association of Business, the conference brings together an impressive array of speakers—each an expert in their field of electronics, insurance, real estate, football sales profits, or political affairs.

They include J. Fred Bucy, president of Texas Instruments Incorporated, Dallas; Bob Bullock, state comptroller of public accounts; Franklin R. Sears, partner of Sears & Parker, Attorneys & Counselors; Dolph Briscoe, governor of Texas; Arthur J. Holst, president of PROMotivation, Inc., Illinois and line judge for the National Football League; self-made millionaire Morgan Maxfield; and State Senators Grant Jones and Betty Andujar.

Highlighting the three days of activities will be the announcement of the winner of the fifth annual Ed C. Burris Award at a 7:30 p.m. banquet in the hotel's Regal Ballroom on Thursday, October 27. Companies from all over the state are vying for the honor of being named Texas' outstanding business.

Established in 1922, the Texas Association of Business is a statewide alliance of business executives working to build a better climate for business in Texas. The Association's efforts in this respect are primarily responsible for having the business climate in Texas named best in the nation.

Local Educators In TWU Forum

PISD Superintendent H. Wayne Hendrick and reading consultant Gerry Haggard are two of several area educational officials set to speak at the 12th annual Fall Forum in Reading at Texas Woman's University's main auditorium in Denton Nov. 19 from 8 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the College of Education, Department of Curriculum and Instruction's Reading Committee, this year's program features two well-known experts in the field of reading.

Dr. H. Alan Robinson, professor of education at Hofstra University, is a very widely published author in the field of reading. From 9-10:15 a.m. he will discuss "Reading in the Content Areas: Is There Anything Else?"

One of the nation's better-known directors of reading workshops, Carolyn L. Burke, associate professor of education at Indiana University, will hold her session on "Using Visible Language: Doing What Comes Naturally" from 11 a.m.-12:15 p.m. and will also hold a question and answer session following a luncheon.

The Fall Forum is under the direction of Dr. Rose Spicola of TWU who points out that "any secondary teacher can teach reading as a second field" and notes that TWU was the first institution in the state to offer a PhD in reading.

Museum Excursion Planned

The Heard Natural Science Museum will have a members-only field trip on Sunday afternoon. The trip will be to Grayson's Bluff on Lake Grapevine, a well-known fossil collecting site.

Only persons with membership in the Heard Museum will be eligible to participate in the trip. New memberships will be accepted before time for departure.

The group will leave the museum at 1:30 p.m., and return by 5 p.m. Children under 15 years of age must be accompanied by an adult.

Anyone interested in attending the trip is requested to call the museum at 542-5012. In the event of rain, the trip will be postponed one week.

Aurora Borealis Depicted in Film

A one-of-a-kind film depicting the northern lights, or aurora borealis, will be shown Monday, Oct. 24, at The University of Texas at Dallas.

Produced by the Finnish Broadcasting Company and the Finnish Meteorological Institute, the one-half hour film entitled "Revontulet" focuses on unique, color shots of the northern lights and is synchronized to music by Jean Sibelius, Finnish composer.

The film previously has been shown to more than 100 million people throughout Scandinavia, several European countries and was viewed on Soviet television last year.

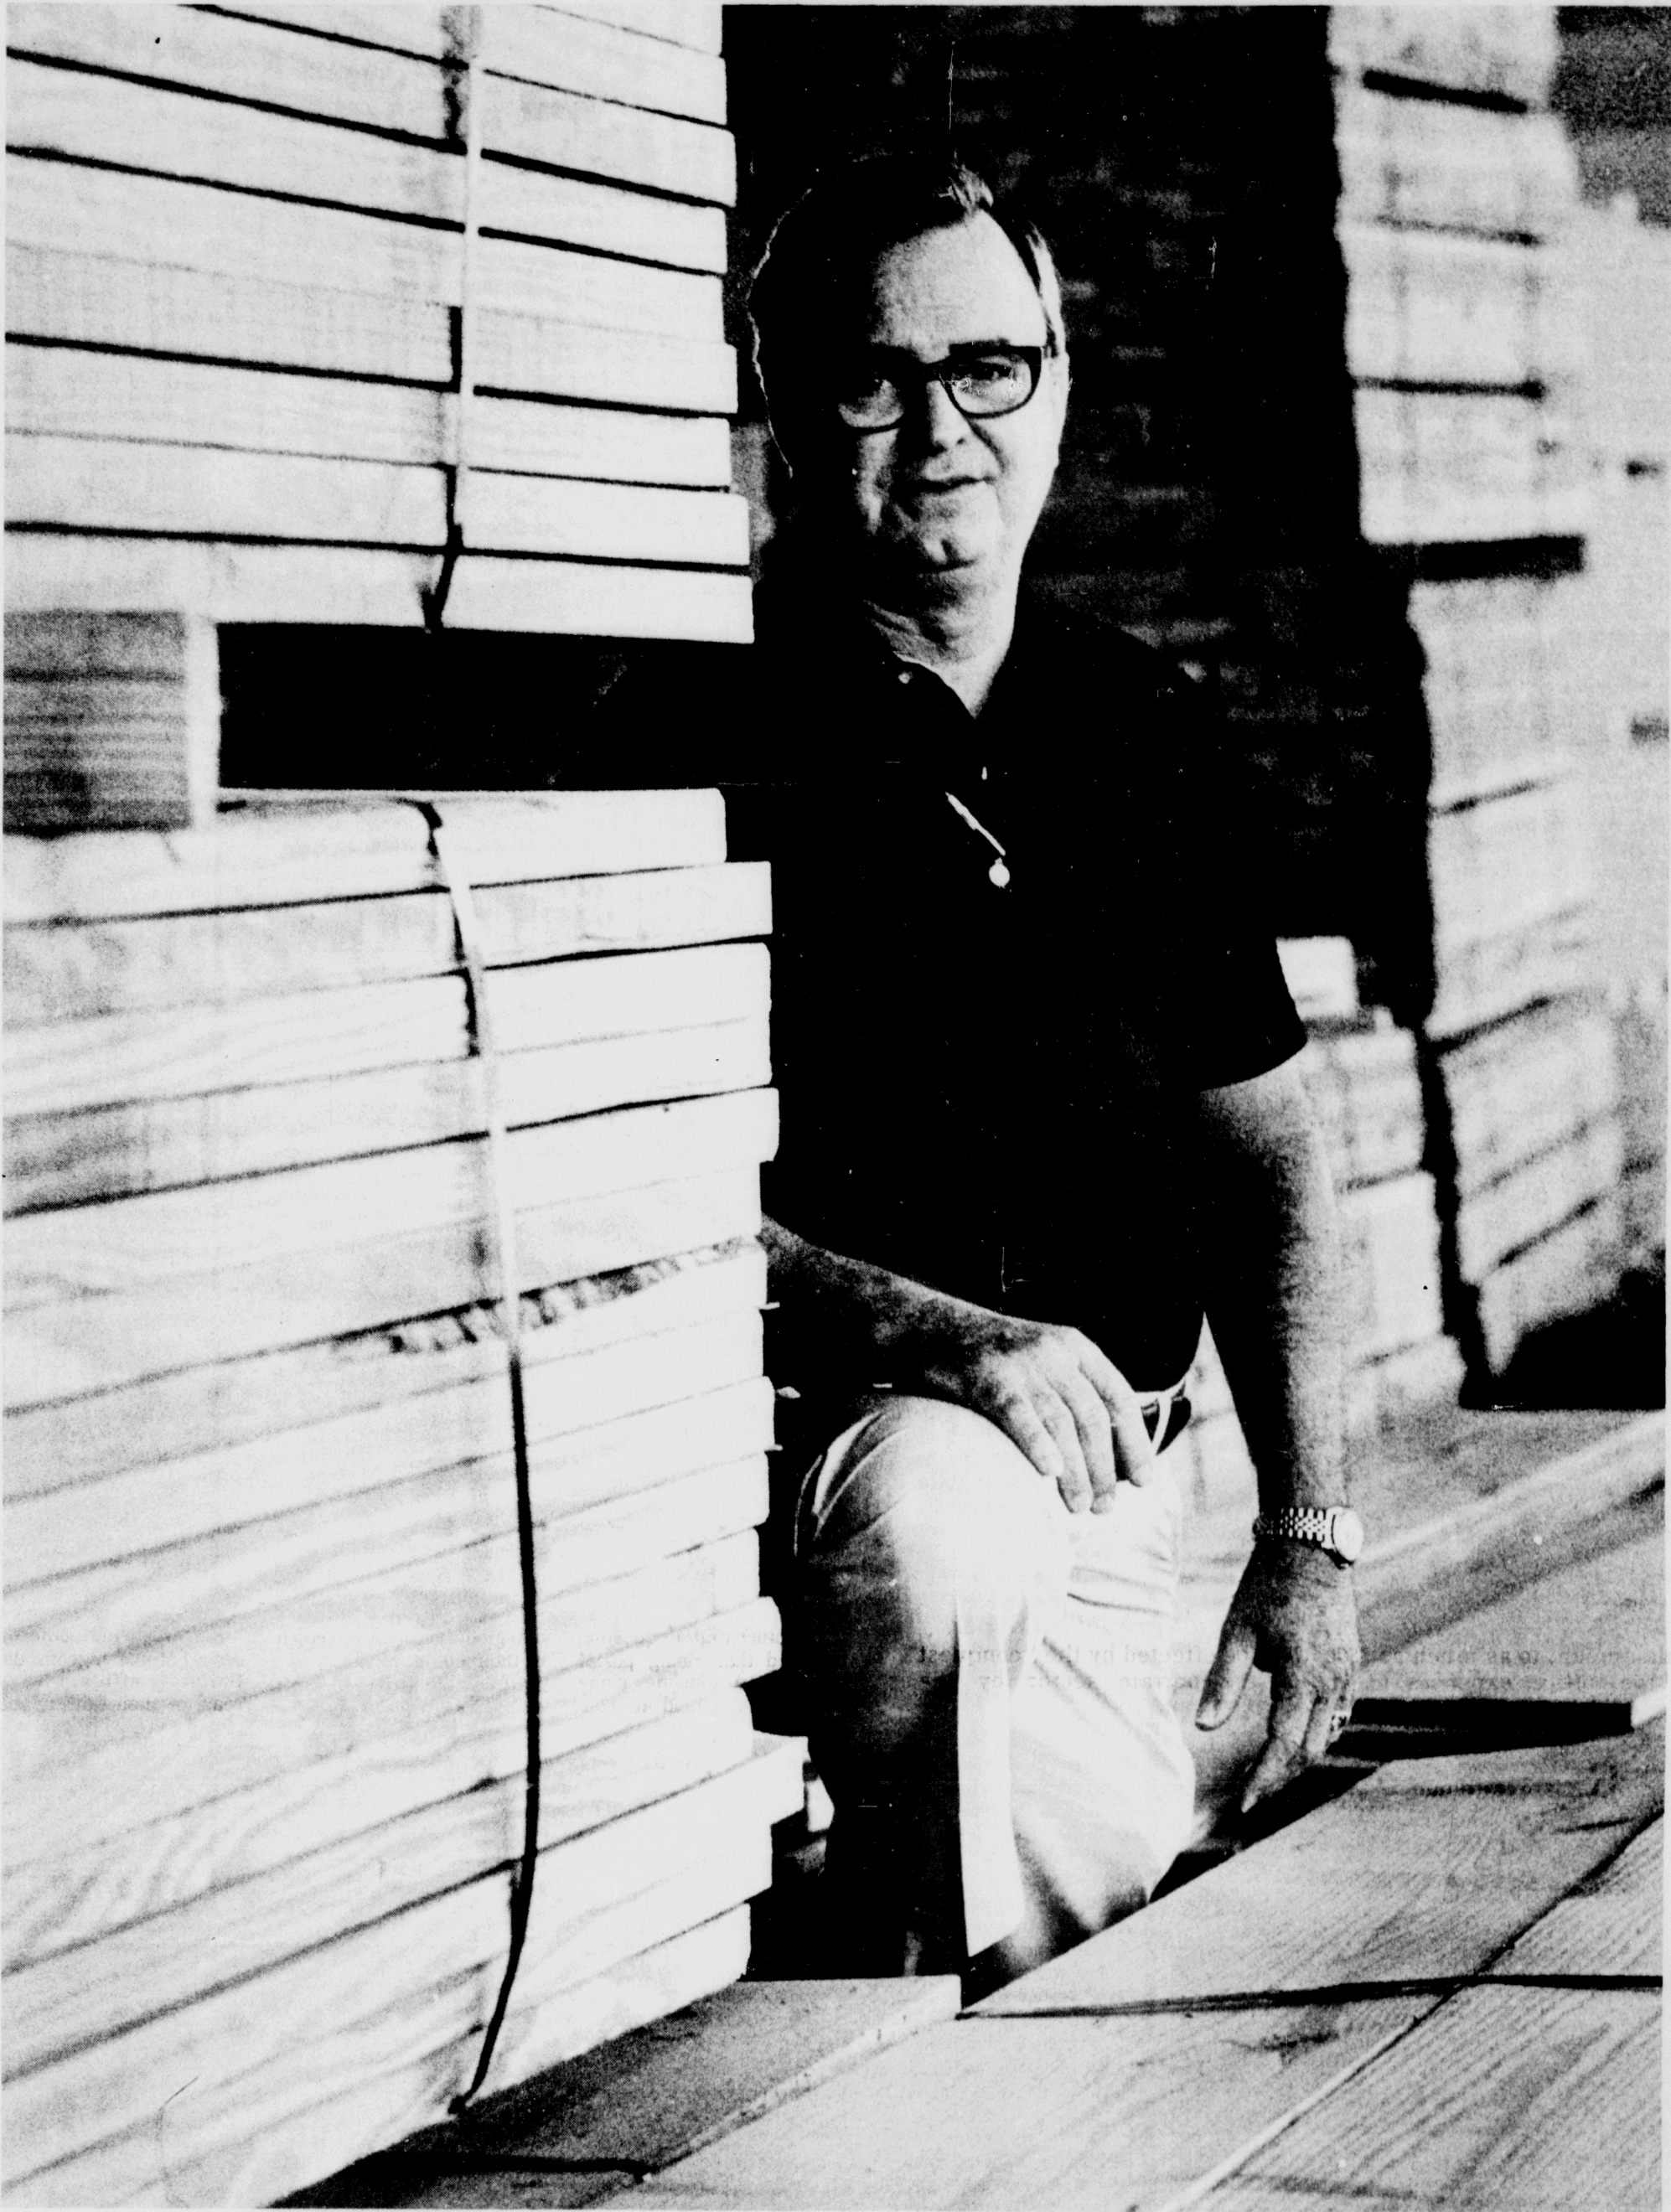

In the U.S., it has been shown in Seattle to a group of scientists. It may be shown only by permission of the Finnish Meteorological Institute, whose members are responsible for aurora borealis research in Finland and other Scandinavian countries.

Filming required two field trips to northern Finland and securing the proper equipment, exposure times and music synchronization was time-consuming. He will give a brief talk on the film before it is shown.

The film is geared toward high school age students, although it contains many scientific aspects, giving it general audience appeal, Pellinen said. It opens with Finnish folklore on the northern lights, then continues to explain - through only pictures and music - the aurora borealis in detail.

The film concludes with an interview by Dr. Walter Hekkila, UT-Dallas professor who has been working for three years with Pellinen on aurora borealis research.

The public is invited to attend the film showing at 4 p.m. in the Founders North Auditorium on the UT-Dallas campus, located at Floyd and Campbell Roads in Richardson.

Frank Adams Sr., has been in the lumber business in Plano since 1956.

"It was almost by accident that I got into the lumber business. A friend of mine and his dad owned a lumber company and built houses. I was teaching school at the time and I worked for them on weekends and in the summer helping them build houses. In 1950, I went to work full time for them in the lumber yard of Tri Cities Lumber in Dallas."

"George Newbill was manager of the lumber yard and I worked under his supervision. He lived in Plano and he learned of the opportunity to buy Fielder Lumber and Supply in Plano. After he purchased the company in 1956, he was looking for someone to manage the company. After five years of training with Tri Cities, I was looking for a manager's job and I took the job as manager of Fielder Lumber Company. We changed the name to Collin County Lumber Company. In May of 1968, we purchased our next door competitor, Plano Lumber and Hardware. In June of 1970, I purchased Mr. Newbill's stock interest in the firm. In October, 1974, we expanded into Lewisville opening Adams Building Center."

"I have banked with the First National Bank since we have been in the community. I liked them because they were aggressive and they proved to have the ability to help a growing business. Being a small, independent businessman, I rely on them for advice. They helped me in the acquisition of other business interests and they helped me plan the opening of my Lewisville operation."

"I feel like the bank has been a stabilizing influence on the community. They have afforded services to the business community, the School District and the City. They have offered a good measure of community leadership and they have been actively involved in the community."

Pressure Of Blood Checked

Collin County National Bank and the American Heart Association will conduct a free blood pressure check Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The blood pressure check will be held in the bank lobby and is free to the public. The test takes only a few minutes to administer.

The American Heart Association estimates that 25 million Americans have high blood pressure and that one-half or 12.5 million of them don't know it.

Untreated, high blood pressure can cause stroke, heart attack, or kidney failure. But it can be treated. The important thing is to find out if high blood pressure is present.

County Meet Will Cover Few Items

An exceptionally short agenda faces County Commissioners at their Monday 9 a.m. meeting in the Collin County Courthouse in McKinney.

After considering minutes from the last meeting and financial transactions from the previous week, the commissioners will discuss a resolution exempting Collin County from Volunteer Fire Fighters' Relief and Retirement Fund.

Bob Henderson's
State of Enviroment

Dear Bob: Why do all you ecologists get so upset about dumping wastes into our waters? This world surely has enough water to dilute even the most poisonous of substances.

Dear Reader: You would certainly think that the 326 million cubic miles of water on this earth could dilute anything we dump into it. But, it is a misconception that "the solution to pollution is dilution". Even the smallest, seemingly insignificant, amounts of pollutants can have drastic effects.

One of the main reasons for this is that some of our most toxic pollutants, such as lead, mercury, pesticides, and radioactive particles, tend to become concentrated in living organisms. The concentration of the pesticide DDT, for example, in the fish-eating birds along the coast was found several years ago to be as much as 10 million times greater than that of the water in which the birds fished.

Much of this concentration occurs in the "who eats whom" food chain. The concentration of pollutants is approximately 10 times greater in a predator than it is in his prey. If, for example, small fish eat seaweed, and large fish eat small fish, and we eat large fish, we will accumulate in our bodies 10 times more pollutants than is in the large fish, 100 times more than is in the small fish, and 1000 times more than is in the seaweed. If, however, we ate seaweed instead of large fish, we would have a concentration only 10 times greater than the seaweed, about the same as the small fish, and 10 times less than the large fish.

Until we stop polluting and our waters become clean again, we should at least try to avoid being the top predator on long food chains. From the standpoint of pollutant concentration, the two ounces of tuna on a sandwich is equivalent to about 1,000 pounds of peas.

Dear Bob: I just want to make a comment. It bothers me that environmentalists are always trying to tell us what we can do and what we can't do. This is an infringement on my rights. Anyone who believes in the right to private property, should also believe that it is the right of the owner to do whatever he wants to on his property. If he wants to build a factory, he should be able to. You will have to agree with that.

Dear Reader: I agree, as long as what a person does on his property does not hurt other people. People not only have the right to private property, but they also have the right to breathe clean air, to drink clean water, and to enjoy the benefits of a natural environment.

Bob welcomes questions and comments. Write to him in care of this newspaper.

Nobel Prize Winner

A University of Texas at Dallas humanities professor was not too surprised when Vicente Aleixandre, a Spanish surrealist poet, recently was awarded the 1977 Nobel Prize in literature.

In fact, Rainer Schulte foresaw Aleixandre's success in 1969 when he met with the poet in Madrid to publish a special issue of his works in "Mundus Artium," a journal of international literature and the arts now published at UT-Dallas.

roots in the traditions of Spanish lyric verse and in modern currents, illuminates man's condition in the cosmos and in present-day society." Aleixandre was a member of the "1927 Generation" of Spanish writers who were influenced by Spanish works of the 15th and 16th centuries and by popular writing.

"Mundus Artium" began in 1967 at Ohio University as a forum for contemporary artists, writers and essayists and presents writers from the international scene. It is distributed in 26 countries.

JOHN HENRY WEBB

John Henry Webb, 74, 1621 Coit Rd., died in McKinney Tuesday.

Born in Kentucky March 15, 1903, he was a member of First Assembly of God Church in Plano and was a retired painter.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Thursday at First Assembly of God with the Rev. Leonard Allgood officiating. Burial was in Plano Mutual Cemetery under the direction of Harrington-Bratcher-Dickey Funeral Home.

Survivors are a brother, Leonard Webb of Lawton, Okla., and two sisters, Mrs. Carver Earl of Seminole and Mrs. Ocie Parker of Cyril, Okla.

Webb's late wife was the former Lillian Jones.

By Tennis Pros

Pet Peeves Taught

WAILEA-MAUI, Hawaii (UPI) — Tennis professionals have their own pet peeves. Their students can learn from the peeves as well as the instruction, says one resort tennis pro.

It is hard enough teaching in a resort where hotel guests come in for a lesson or two and then move on to another island. But when they fail to practice what they've been taught, it upsets Steve Lee.

"I think that's the worst," Lee said after conducting a "Stroke of the Day" clinic here.

"I don't care who the instructor is or what method he teaches, the most upsetting thing to him will be if you don't practice.

"If you learn something," said the bronzed Hawaiian, "the idea is to reinforce it with practice.

"Sure, we professionals make our living out of this. But we also like to feel we have achieved some kind of success.

"And you don't do that with what we call the professional lesson taker. Some of them come here just so they'll have something to talk about.

"You know, they want to tell people what their pro told them today — to brag about the wonderful new pro they are taking lessons from.

"We're just a nice conversation piece for them.

"I know practicing is hard sometimes — to squeeze in the time for it — but what it really boils down to, if you don't practice, you're wasting a lot of money."

What else bugs Lee, 27, of Honolulu, tennis pro at the Wailea club on Maui?

"The spectators that start giving the lesson themselves.

"It's happened once or twice. One time, there was this father. It was the first time I had taught his son. So I wanted to let him take some swings before I started giving instructions — give him a chance to relax, to loosen up. And I needed to find out how good he was and what he needed to work on.

"But the father, he starts right in giving instructions. I ask him, 'Pardon me, sir, but if it's all right with you, I'm giving the lesson, I'll tell him what to do.'

"He says, 'Well, tell him something then.'

"That kind of tennis parent, they are the worst.

"A lot of these parents, they're trying to relive their lives through their kids. We see them at the tourneys, too. What they tried and couldn't do, they're going to have their kid do.

"And a lot of kids I've known have quit because of that. They can just take so much of that kind of pressure."

Steve has one piece of advice for anyone serious about developing a good game.

"Try to find an instructor that you are compatible with. As far as the ratio of success goes, a pro wants to — has to — have the great majority of students succeed with him.

"But every pro knows there is a certain percentage of people that he won't get along with. No matter how hard you try, it just won't work. These people need to go to someone else."

Lee, who has taught five years here and in Honolulu, conducts the "Stroke of the Day Clinic" for tennis buffs needing a brush up and who lack time while here to take a full course.

But he prefers more concentrated private lessons for more advanced players.

Although beginners are sometimes self conscious and need private lessons, he says the clinic helps a great many others gain confidence from being in a group.

Either way, the former University of Hawaii player said, "I try to get them so involved with the game, they forget about being embarrassed."

He has some interesting instruction methods.

"The important thing," he will say slowly and carefully, "is to hit the ball ... over the net.

"That's not one thing. It is two. You have to hit the ball. Then you have to get it over the net."

This introduction leads to an entire dissertation on meeting the ball with the racket properly; then another on the swing that will get it over the net.

Despite the pet peeves and the fact his father opposed his choice of profession on the old fashioned view tennis was "a sissy game," he loves being a pro. He occasionally gets to play with celebrities.

A Football for Bowman

A special door prize will be awarded at the PTSO kickoff rally at Bowman Middle School Monday night at 7:30 p.m. Plano Sports Center salesman Larry Henderson (right) has donated a football autographed by Planoite Patrick Thomas now a cornerback with the L.A. Rams, to the Bowman PTSO. Accepting the door prize are Bowman student Stacy Bell and Jackie Williams, Thomas' former teammate from the Plano Wildcats and Texas A&M University Aggies.

Thomas and Williams played football in Plano under head coach John Clark in the early 1970's and helped bring the Wildcats to the State AAA Championship in 1971-72. They both played for the Aggies throughout their college careers where Thomas made the College All-America Team his junior and senior years. Thomas is now on defense for the professional Los Angeles Rams but lives in Plano during the off-season. (Staff photo).

In Regional Concert

String Musicians to Perform

Eighteen Plano students will perform in the Region III Junior High String Orchestras on Saturday, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m., in the auditorium of North Mesquite High School, 18201 LBJ Freeway.

The free concert, sponsored by the Texas Music Teachers Association, will conclude two days of clinics and rehearsals for the students under the direction of Mrs. Nancy Hudson, music educator from Evansville, Ind., and Harry Lantz, cellist and orchestra director from Baylor University.

Performing with the honors orchestras will be violinists Jon Baldwin and W.T. Greer of Vines; Mary Carlson of Armstrong; Cindy Collier of Bowman; Michelle Gresset, Luann Martin and Kristi Swierenga of Haggard; Dung Nguyen and Tonya Walker of Williams; and Alfred Shen of Wilson.

They will be joined by cellists David David Baldwin and Robert Dysart of Haggard and Irene Jansen of Williams and bass players Kelvin Porter of Armstrong and John Wells of Haggard. Performing on the violas will be Jeep Cox of Armstrong, David Hicks of Williams and Lucy Smith of Vines.

The students earned their positions through qualifying auditions. More than 450 students were in competition for the 130 available positions.

Special recognition has been given to Irene Jansen who was selected from 53 cellists to hold the first chair and lead the cello section.

Kristi Swierenga and Michelle Gressett qualified with three other students to audition for the concert master of the first orchestra and Jon Baldwin qualified with four other students to audition for concert master of the second orchestra.

Indonesian Visit Set by Professor

A University of Texas at Dallas internationally known accounting expert has been asked to visit Indonesia for a second time to assist that nation in developing business education practices.

Dr. Adolf J. H. Enthoven, a UT-Dallas professor of accounting and director of the school's Center for International Accounting Development, spent part of last summer in Indonesia on a World Bank special assignment to appraise the higher education structure, developments and requirements in management, economics and accountancy. His current visit to Indonesia is being sponsored by both the World Bank and the United Nations.

Enthoven said the trips have come about because of a request from the Indonesian government to assist in enhancing its higher education system in these fields in relation to Indonesia's economic growth and development pattern.

Enthoven said the World Bank has been placing emphasis on education as a vital element for sound economic development in Third World nations.

Enthoven is a native of The Netherlands and a long-time accountant who has practiced accounting throughout the world and has served as an international accounting advisor to several nations.

"Indonesia is a country with 130 million people and one of the major deficiencies has turned out to be the lack of adequate managerial, accountancy and economic capabilities to cope with the rapid rate of development and industrialization," Enthoven said.

State Conference Covers Retarded

A state-wide conference focusing on new legal rights and protections for mentally retarded persons will be held in Dallas November 4 and 5.

The conference, which will be at the DuPont Plaza Hotel, is designed to analyze the impact of the Mentally Retarded Persons Act passed during the recent state legislative session, explained Susan McKay, director of training and staff development at Dallas County Mental Health and Mental Retardation (MHMR).

"This Bill guarantees to mentally retarded individuals the rights of all citizens," said Ms. McKay. She noted that the new legislation, scheduled to take effect January 1, will have a tremendous impact on mentally retarded persons as well as agencies serving them.

Ms. McKay explained that the bill (Senate Bill 700) specifically guarantees to mentally retarded persons "the right to live in the least restrictive environment possible, the right to a publicly supported education, the right to non-discrimination in employment and housing and the right to individualized treatment and a continuum of habilitative services."

She said that prior to the enactment of Senate Bill 700 there was no state legislation specifically ensuring the rights of the mentally retarded.

"This is a very good piece of legislation, and will greatly improve the lot of mentally retarded persons," continued Ms. McKay. "But at the same time it is going to put much greater demands on those agencies serving mentally retarded persons.

The purpose of the conference, she said, is to examine the implications and impact of the new law for mentally retarded persons, their families and agencies providing services to the mentally retarded.

Conference speakers will include Dr. Bob Carpenter, executive director of Dallas County MHMR; Dallas County Judge John Whittington; Dr. John Gladden, superintendent of the Lubbock State School; Elizabeth Hodges, supervisor of Child Protective Services with the Texas Department of Human Resources in Dallas; Judge Joseph Ashmore of the Dallas County Probate Court; Dr. Vearl McDaniel, superintendent of the Fort Worth State School; Dr. Jon Hannum, deputy commissioner for community services with the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation (TDMHMR); Dr. James Kraft, deputy commissioner for mental retardation at TDMHMR, and Kent Johnson of TDMHMR's legal services.

The conference is being cosponsored by Dallas County MHMR, Trinity Valley MHMR, Pecan Valley MHMR, Texoma MHMR and the Dallas-Ft. Worth Region of the Texas Department of Human Resources.

Persons interested in additional information should contact Ms. McKay at (214) 630-6100.

Metropolitan UW Still Needs Cash

With 13 working days left in the current campaign, United Way of Metropolitan Dallas volunteers must raise $4,923,784. General Campaign Chairman Jack Evans announced today at the drive's first general report meeting.

The amount is 64.1 percent of the $13,695,777 campaign goal. The United Way's 10 volunteer divisions have raised $8,771,993 since the drive began Sept. 15.

A 17-year fund-raising performance was repeated today when the all-women residential Division again was the first campaign group to exceed its quota. Mrs. Frederick Rowe, chairman of the division, reported that Residential has raised $229,449, or 100.5 percent of its $228,429 quota.

A 90-year-old Residential volunteer, Mrs. W.H. Francis, was honored for United Way service which goes back 50-plus years through the time of the old Community Chest.

Chairman Evans, who is president of Cullum Companies, accepted a "surprise" gift of $86,353 from employees of the Tom Thumb stores. The contribution is 15.1 percent over the employees' $75,000 campaign quota and 41.6 percent over last year's gift.

In commenting on the "champions" these of this year's campaign, Evans told volunteers that "we're fighting for the rights of others to get a shot at the kind of lives you and I routinely live every day of the year."

"The collective effort of 25,000 volunteers in this campaign as well as in year-round service is the reason that less than eight cents out of each pledged dollar goes to campaign and year-round costs."

Wildcat Gambles Pay Off, 22-16

Plano Tops Richardson Eagles

BY ED VOSS
Sports Editor

Coach Tommy Kimbrough is a gambler. His Plano Wildcat football team gambled twice on fourth down plays to score two touchdowns in beating the Richardson Eagles 22-16 in District 13-AAAA play Friday night.

Plano was trailing 14-0 and elected to try for a touchdown on a fourth down and nine yards to go at the 12-yard line midway through the second quarter.

Plano executed a perfect screen pass to halfback Jeff Turner for the 12 yards and a touchdown. Then Plano gambled again - on the conversion attempt the 'Cats went for two points and succeeded on a quick pass from quarterback Steve Ulmer to tight end Kevin Rush.

Plano trailed at that point 14-8 which held until half-time.

In the fourth period, Plano gambled for the third time. On a fourth down and one yard to go for a touchdown, Plano, with John Gaddis at quarterback, spurted the distance for a touchdown with 11:58 remaining in the game. Stevie Haynes booted the extra point and Plano took a 15-14 edge.

That was the end of Plano's fourth down gambles but not the end of their scoring.

Late in the fourth period, Gaddis rambed 24 yards around end to score with 1:39 remaining to give Plano their third touchdown. Haynes' kick gave Plano a 22-14 edge.

Richardson, noted for their fourth quarter heroics, were stymied in the second half by Plano's tough defense. However, Plano didn't want to take any chances and gave the Eagles a safety on a punt with only 18 seconds remaining as a segment of their plan to run the clock down.

Plano's gift-wrapped safety was just another in a series of gambles by the Wildcat coaches.

The Wildcats had to gamble to beat Richardson. They went down 7-0 early in the first quarter after a halfback pass from John Gaddis was intercepted by Richardson's Carey Zahr at the 31-yard line. Six plays later, Richardson scored on a six-yard burst by Brian Fodor. Larry Martin split the uprights with his kick to give the Eagles the conversion point.

Richardson's lead increased to 14-0 in the closing seconds of the opening stanza after Plano punter Stevie Haynes was sacked only 33 yards from Eagle paydirt. Five plays later, Richardson scored on a 22-yard pass from quarterback Robert Brewer to end Frank Gren with 31 seconds showing. Martin added the PAT.

Plano finally got a break to go their way in the second period. Richardson runner Fodor fumbled to Plano's defensive tackle Billy Ray Smith at the 23-yard line.

Four plays later, Plano scored on an Ulmer pass to Turner on a fourth down screen pass. Plano gambled and got two points on the ensuing conversion on a pass from Ulmer to Rush.

Plano's offense lost the services of quarterback Ulmer in the third period, temporarily, and Gaddis stepped in at the helm to engineer the Wildcats' next strike.

Late in the third quarter, Plano took a Martin punt and set up shop 43 yards from the endzone.

Runs by Gaddis and Turner put Plano at the one-yard line with a third down. It took Gaddis two tries to sneak the ball across the endline on the initial play of the fourth quarter. Haynes booted the PAT for a 15-14 Plano edge. Plano's gambling ways were paying off. Richardson tried to take Linebacker C.M. Pier, 55, intercepted a pass by Richardson Eagle quarterback Robert Brewer and returned it 45 yards for an apparent touchdown. Flanker Tim Lasiter, 21, provided a key block to spring Pier. However, the touchdown was negated on a clipping penalty. Plano went on to beat Richardson, 22-16. (Staff photo by Richard LaGow).

Warrior 9th Wins, 20-19

Williams freshman Warriors scored a touchdown in the last four minutes of the game Thursday night in Carrollton against Newman Smith and went on to hold off a late rally, winning 20-19.

Kelly Boyd scored two touchdowns in the contest; one coming on a 65-yard run in the first quarter and the other on a 15-yard run in the second quarter.

Alan Dement in at quarterback for the Warriors, scored the final game winning touchdown on an option around the end for 26 yards.

"Our turnovers almost cost us the game, but the boys showed good poise and came from behind to win the game," said Coach Basil Clark. "Coach Reese did a very good job of play selection for us," he added.

Standouts for the Warriors were Dement, Dave Bowers, Boyd Miller, Ricky Snyder, Phil Taylor with an interception, Sparman, J.D. Ulmer and James Gainey.

Rams Beat Smith, 21-8

Wilson's eighth grade Rams erupted for 21 points in the first half and fought a hard defensive battle the rest of the way in beating Carrollton's Newman Smith 21-8 Tuesday night.

The Rams first score came on a 46-yard pass play from David Kennedy to Curtis Kemp.

Later in the first quarter Kennedy scored on a 60-yard run to move the Rams up on top 13-0 after one quarter.

Kemp got the final touchdown for the Rams on a pass from Kennedy to give Wilson a 21-2 halftime lead.

"We were able to move the ball as well as we wanted to move it, but we had several big plays to score," said Coach James Thomas.

Steve Beck and D.

Bergeron both got interceptions for the Rams. Brad Titus and Robert Street were impressive on quarterback sacks.

Other standouts were Garland Lain, the offensive line of Street, Levinski, Cornelius, Dorrett, Lain, Brooks and Price.

Wylie Whips Allen Eagles, 37-10

It started out to look like Allen's three previous games, a close "barn-burner". But with 6:37 left in the game and Wylie leading 16-10 everything turned sour for the bruising blue Eagles as they gave up three touchdowns and went on to lose 37-10 Friday night to the Pirates in Wylie.

After a short nine-yard punt in the first quarter, Wylie took nine plays to drive the ball 43 yards for the first score in the game. A ten-yard run by Wendell Collins, a 140 pound senior bowling ball, put the Pirates on top first. A high snap on the conversion foiled any chances of Wylie getting the extra point so they led 6-0 with 3:11 left in the first quarter.

On Allen's second play from scrimmage a reverse, meant for speedy flanker Greg Duncan, was spoiled when the handoff from Steve Marion to Duncan was dropped. Wylie recovered the ball at the 18-yard line of the Eagles.

The Pirates were able to get only one-yard in three tries including two incomplete passes and were apparently going to try a 34-yard field goal. The kick by quarterback Rock King, a sophomore, was good and it gave Wylie a 9-0 lead with 1:45 left in the first quarter.

On the preceding kickoff Allen drove 76 yards in a beautiful 13 play drive. The drive used up five minutes on the clock.

Big plays in the drive were a 14-yard gain by David Grimes who finished with 60 yards on the night, 12 and 14-yard receptions by Duncan and a 21-yard reception by tight end Bill Hart.

The 14-yard reception by Duncan was for a touchdown. Zenford Jones added the point after to make the score 9-7.

Wylie was forced to punt after running three plays losing a total of four yards. A big play in the series was made by sophomore Skipper Shipley who came through the line of scrimmage like a charging bull and dropped King for a six-yard loss.

Following the punt the Eagles took over on their own 46-yard line.

Allen, running from the power 1 formation, drove down to the Pirates 13-yard line on the strength of Mark Potters 17 yards in three carries and Jones' 12 yards on three running attempts and a pass reception. Grimes the leading ball carrier for the Eagles picked up 11 yards in the drive.

After the drive culminated on the Wylie 13-yard line Jones stayed on the field and proceeded to notch a 30-yard field goal straight through the up rights to punt Allen ahead for the only time in the game, 10-9 with 2:09 left in the first half.

The Pirates, known to live and die by the pass, hadn't put the ball up much at all in their previous possessions. King was behind, however, and he needed to get the Pirates of Wylie back in the game. In eight passes Wylie proceeded to march 70 yards for what proved to be the winning touchdown. On the march King hit five out of eight passes while scrambling and picking up 16 on his own. Garthe Touchstone was the recipient of two of those passes including the seven-yard pass for the touchdown. King added the extra point and Wylie led from here on out 16-10.

After coming out at halftime and Wylie leading 16-10 on Kings throwing circus, neither team generated much offense in the third quarter. Wylie had three first downs in the quarter to Allen's one.

Following a pickoff of an Eagle pass by Touchstone the Pirates drove down to the Eagles seven-yard line. But senior Ronnie Cross, in for King, threw an interception to Sandy Bedell.

Bedell's catch in the end zone brought the ball out to the Eagles own 20-yard line.

On fourth down and one at the 29-yard line the Eagles punted and the Pirates set up house on the Allen 45-yard line.

On the first play from scrimmage reserve back Wayne Mayberry broke three tackles and out raced everyone, going all the way for the score. King provided the extra point and a 23-10 lead for Wylie with 6:41 left in the game.

"That touchdown by number 31 on that long run was the turning point in the game," said Coach John Pearce, "a young and inexperienced team is going to make mistakes and wear down and thats exactly what we did, and it showed their at the end."

The touchdown by Mayberry was the first of three Wylie scores in a period of five minutes.

Allen was forced to punt proceeding the kickoff by the Pirates and Wylie took over on the Eagles 49-yard line. The Pirates were in good field position all night, thanks to poor punts and interceptions.

It took Wylie three plays, with Cross doing the honors from 32 yards out. He was apparently making up for the interception by Bedell in the end zone earlier in the quarter. King added the point after to put the Pirates out in front 30-10 with four minutes left in the game.

On Allen's first possession following the kickoff Tony Garner, a senior man for the Pirates, picked off his second pass of the night at the Pirates own 36-yard line.

Eight plays later the Pirates struck pay dirt with Cross once again the ball carrier. This TD was on a two-yard carry around the right end. King, although his leg was apparently getting tired, managed to kick the extra point to put Wylie in front for the last time 37-10.

Allen is open this week but get into action the following week against Red Oak.

Eagle JV Ties Unbeaten Wylie

Darren Offutt scored two touchdowns, both in the first half to pace the Allen JV to a 20-20 tie with unbeaten Wylie Thursday night in Allen.

Offutt's first score came in the first quarter on a sweep around the end for ten yards. The pass attempt for the two-point conversion failed.

After Wylie scored two times in the second quarter and went ahead 12-6, Offutt, looking for someone to throw the ball to, scrambled out of the pocket and raced eight yards into the end zone right before the half to knot up the score. The conversion once again failed.

Neither team could manage much in the third period but the Eagles got on the board first in the fourth quarter on a 19-yard run up the middle by Jerry Darnell, who finished with 105 yards on the night. Offutt found Steve Ostrander in the end zone on the two-point conversion and the Eagles pulled ahead for the second time in the game.

The Pirates scored in the fourth quarter also and converted the conversion to tie up the score at 20-20.

Standouts in the game were Brian West, who blocked a punt, Mark Sandy who recovered a fumble to set up the Eagles last touchdown, Ostrander who finished with ten tackles on the game and Dennis Burton who finished with eight tackles.

The tie put Allen's record at 5-2-1 on the season and 2-1-1 in district play. Wylie, however, is undefeated on the season.

Blackhawk Players Visit Plano Oct. 26

Two star members of the Dallas Blackhaws professional hockey team will be in Plano at Cloister Square on Wednesday, Oct. 26, from 4 to 6 p.m.

The two players, Greg Kubick and Kevin Campbell, are promoting Plano Night at the Blackhaws' game Nov. 4 against the Kansas City Redwings. Tickets for Plano Night are available at $4 each at the Plano News Stand which is located in Cloister Square, FM 544 at Independence.

Kubick and Campbell will be available to sign autographs and pass along their knowledge of professional hockey. Kubick, 5-10 and 185 lb., is a right winger with the Blackhaws and is entering his second season with the team.

Kubick is team captain for the 1977-1978 season and is noted as a top-notch defensive forward. He usually checks the top scoring winger on the opposition.

Campbell is a rookie defenseman from St. Lawrence University in Potsdam, New York where he earned a B.A. in economics. He played four games last season for Dallas following graduation.

'Cat Linksters Top Turner

Linksters from Plano Senior High topped Carrollton Turner by one stroke Thursday in nine-hole dual match play at the Plano Municipal Golf Course.

Coach Jay Stevens' Wildcat golfers have won 24 dual matches in a row.

"Some of the members of this team do not know what defeat tastes like. They have not lost in a dual match since they were sophomores," said Coach Stevens.

Because of a late start, the dual match was held to nine holes.

Plano won with a team total of 153 strokes to Turner's 154 strokes.

The 'Cats were led by Mike Carl's 35 followed by Billy Crist with a 38 and Joe Kralis with a 40. David Maddox rounded out the team scoring with a 40. Also playing but his score not counting toward the team total was Greg Morrison at 42.

The team also played last week at the Fort Worth Invitational and placed fourth out of 20 teams. Played at Ridgelea Country Club, Plano had a 319 team total for 18 holes.

Mike Carl led the Plano charge with a 77 round. Crist followed with a 78. Doug Morrison fired an 82 and Kralis had an 82. Steve Merkel's 86 score did not count toward the team total. Plano has six to seven dual matches remaining this fall and winter. Next match is with Lewisville Nov. 1. Coach Stevens expects about 25 teams at the meet including Plano's District 13-AAAA opponents.

"This tournament should give us a good indication of how well we will do in district competition. All of the district teams are expected there," said Coach Stevens.

Viking Frosh Dropped, 28-14

Denton Turns Fumbles Into Scores

Darin Davis scored two touchdowns for the Vines High School Viking freshmen but they weren't enough in a 28-14 loss Thursday to Denton Strickland at John Clark Field.

Davis scored in the second quarter on a 42-yard pass play. The pass was from Kevin Garman. The two-point conversion failed and the score was tied 6-6 at halftime.

In the third period, the Vines offense coughed up the football twice on fumbles deep in their own territory which led to 14 points for Denton. However, late in the same period, Garman connected again with Davis for a 59-yard pass play to narrow the score to 10-14.

In the fourth period, Denton got their insurance points and won, 28-14.

Ricky Crist was cited for outstanding play at running back by the coaches. Others cited included the offensive line: Tommy Lawrence, James Wilkinson, Gary Elliott, Jon Melby, Todd Hoetger, Blaise Timco, and Wade Nolan. Vines will play next Thursday against the Lewisville Maroon at 5:30 p.m. at John Clark Field.

Plano Spikers Beat Berkner

Coach Ruth Stovall's Wildcat spikers at Plano Senior High School won their 10th game in District 13-AAAA action Thursday over Richardson Berkner, 15-3 and 15-5.

"It was a real good match," Coach Stovall said. "We had a few slumps but managed to pull back from them. We were behind at one time in the game but came back."

Judy Ausmus was the outstanding player for Plano. The win gives Plano a 10-4 district record.

In Junior Varsity play, Plano won 15-12 and 15-9. Kathy Harrison was outstanding for the JV unit. The Junior Varsity also played Friday and Saturday in the Birdville Tournament. Results were not available at press time.

Plano's next match is Tuesday at Plano Senior High's Activities Building at 6:30 p.m. against Richardson High.

Dallas Vs. Philadelphia

Undefeated Cowboys Eye Sixth Win;

Landry Cautions Against Letdown

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Twice in the history of the Dallas Cowboys they have opened their season with six straight victories and they can do it again Sunday if they defeat the Philadelphia Eagles.

"Obviously," said coach Tom Landry, "we are going to have to guard against a letdown."

The Cowboys playing some of their best ball ever, have whipped division rivals St. Louis and Washington the past two weeks and now open a stretch of their schedule that calls for the Eagles, the Detroit Lions and the New York Giants for the second time this year.

A sweep of those three teams would put Dallas not only in commanding position for the NFC title, but also in excellent shape to claim the best record in the conference — thus ensuring the Cowboys of the home field advantage in the playoffs.

First things first, however, and the first thing is the Eagles.

"Philadelphia has an excellent defensive club,"

Landry said. "They are much like that aggressive young defense we saw from Tampa Bay."

"They play you tough. They've allowed just 71 points and that's fewer than we have given up (78). They have good running backs and one of the best offensive lines in the league."

"It's a very underrated group with good personnel." Dallas started their 1968 and 1969 seasons with six straight wins and they went on during those two years to produce their best records ever. The Cowboys finished 12-2 in 1968 and 11-2-1 in 1969. But both years they lost to the Cleveland Browns in the opening round of the playoffs.

The Cowboys began with five victories last season, but lost their sixth game to St. Louis.

"I guess you'd say we're ahead of schedule," Landry said. "We have been able to beat three contenders. We're a confident team. But there's a lot of room for improvement."

Philadelphia coach Dick

Vermiel, whose Eagles are 2-3 despite scoring more touchdowns than the opposition, said his team is going to have to start holding on to the ball if it expects to win.

"We are minus 11 on turnovers," he said, "and you can't play winning football doing that."

"And as far as Dallas is concerned, I thought they were a great team last year and they are better now."

"I sure don't see anybody stopping Dallas for the division title. They might lose a few games, but I think they will win the division."

TOM LANDRY

Haggard, Bowman Split V'Ball Games

Haggards seventh grade girls volleyball team and the Bowman team split their matches Thursday night.

Bowman's Gold team won over the Haggard Red team in straight games by scores of 15-12 and 15-8. Outstanding servers for Bowman were, Sharon Tane and Christi Guenther. For the Red team standouts were Judy Bailey, Carla Grenier, Sheri Pearce and Beth Floyd.

In the other match the Haggard Blue team defeated the Bowman Blue team 8-15, 15-9 and 15-9. Standouts for the Eagles Blue team were Sue Jablonica, Holley Howard, Dana Thompson and Kelly Watson. Standouts for the Raiders Blue team were Areil Thomas.

Haggard's eighth grade girls defeated Bowman in both their games. The Blue team defeated the Gold team 15-7 and 15-9. The Red team defeated the Blue team 15-6, 3-15 and 15-9. The wins improved the Eagles season total to 20-2. Standouts for the Eagles were Heidi Herman, Toni Ruckle, Debbie Hunter and Arva Dunn.

Outstanding servers for the Bowman team were Cheryl Berg, Kim Evans, Kimber Wallace, Korky Stormer, Cindy Snider, Delores Reyes and Malinda Saylor.

Armstrong's seventh grade girls team defeated the Wilson girls in both games Thursday night at Wilson. The Orange team of the Apaches defeated the White team of Wilson 15-10 and 17-15. The White team defeated the Green team of Wilson by a score of 15-11 and 15-10.

"The teams have worked extra hard this past week and they improved greatly. I thought the girls played their best game of the year," said Becky Austin of Armstrong. "I hope they continue this enthusiasm and we are able to do a good job," she added.

Wilson's eight grade girls volleyball team defeated Vivian Field at Carrollton Thursday night in straight games.

The Green team won 15-8 and 15-6. The high scorer for the Rams was Janie Brown with seven points.

The White team won by scores of 9-15, 15-12 and 15-9. High scorer for the White team was Robin Fox with six points.

A city volleyball tour-namment for the seventh grade will be at Bowman Middle School on October 29. All the middle school's in Plano will be participating. A tournament is also planned for the eighth grade on the 28th and 29th at Haggard Middle School with all Plano schools competing.

New Opponents For Allen Eagles

District 12-AA will have some new faces in its midst next season.

Kaufman and Lake Dallas are moving into the district

Trivia:

The Brawlers
PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Flyers incurred a total of 107 penalty minutes against the Toronto Maple Leafs in their April 15, 1976, Stanley Cup playoff contest. The Flyers spent the game with an average of nearly two men off the ice at all times. Toronto won, 5-4.

First Chosen
PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jay Berwanger, the first winner of the Heisman Trophy, was also the first player chosen when the National Football League began its college draft in 1936.

replacing Midlothian and Cedar Hill. While Allen's main rival Frisco has been moved up from class A ball to 12-AA for next season to make eight teams competing for the district race.

"I hate to see Cedar Hill and Midlothian go," said Coach John Pearce, whose Eagles have lost to both squads. "they were excellent teams and had first class programs. We like to keep first class teams like that in our district."

Kaufman is currently state ranked and have played two teams from 12-AA this year. They defeated district favorite Wylie 54-33 and won narrowly over Forney.

"I was hoping for a North Dallas district alignment, but some class A teams weren't moved up," said Coach Pearce.

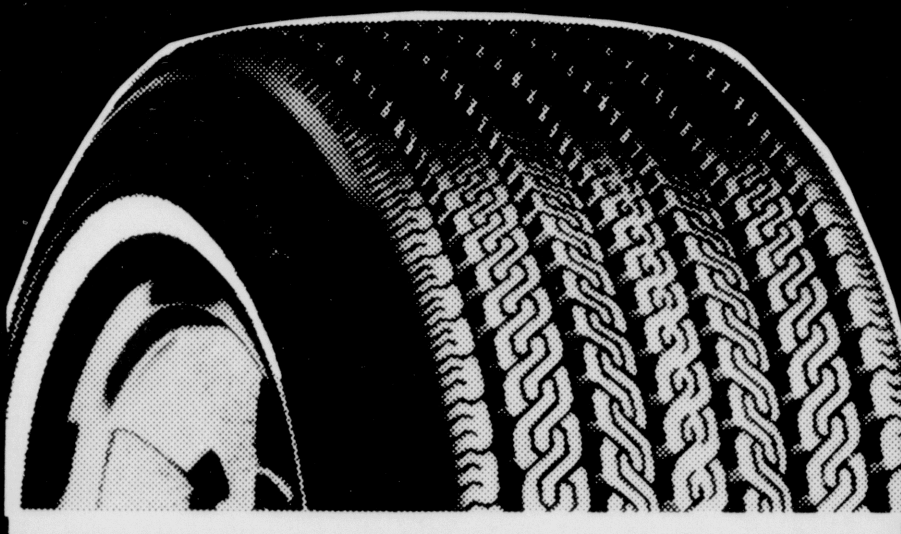

Those teams remaining in District 12-AA are Red Oak, Ferris, Wylie and Forney.

Newby, Weaver Wed

Pamela Sue Weaver, daughter of Jerome Weaver and Mrs. Robbie Moon became the bride of Matthew Jay Newby Friday.

The pair pledged their vows before the Rev. Travis Berry at 6 p.m. at First Baptist Church of Plano.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Newby.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white taffeta gown layered with white chiffon and trimmed in seed-pearl embroidery and Venise lace. Her lace-edged veil fell from a lace and pearl caplet, and she carried white and peach carnations, peach roses and baby's breath.

Attendants were Renita Ann Hopkins, maid of honor, and bridesmaids Dawn Efau, Carolyn Clowe, Vicki Youngblood and Marsha Barnes. All are of Plano. They wore peach knit and chiffon gowns and carried white carnations caught up with peach-colored ribbons.

Shawna Hopkins and Ashley Freeman of Plano and Balch, Ark., respectively, were flower girls, wearing yellow knit dresses. Ringbearers were Emily May of Plano and Chris Weaver of Balch.

Wedding music was provided by Greg Owens, pianist and songwriter, and Kevin Clowe, organist.

Tommy Fineout of Plano was best man, and groomsmen, all of Plano, were Keith Clowe, Mark Hindle, Phil Newby and Vince Eaton. Ushers were Ronnie Weaver of Balch, Ark., Randy Weaver of Plano, Steve Newby and Mike May, both of Allen.

The groom's parents' home was the setting for the ensuing reception. The white three-tier wedding cake was trimmed with peach-colored roses, and punch was also peach.

MRS. MATTHEW JAY NEWBY
Nee Pamela Sue Weaver

Members of the houseparty were Sherri Newby, wife of the bridegroom's brother; Linda May, the groom's sister, and Signey Earnest. The couple, both graduates of Plano Senior High School, will make their home in Dallas.

New Arrivals

CHRISTOPHER MARK CREED

Mark and Rhonda Creed of 3524 Birchwood are the delighted parents of a new son, Christopher Mark, born Sept. 30 at Presbyterian. The couple's first child weighed 7 lbs. 12 oz. and stretched to 21½ inches. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Garry of Parker and Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Creed of Plano and the great-grandson of Mrs. John Yandell of Plano.

AAUW to Host Tasting Luncheon

The luncheon is the group's major annual fund-raising project.

Proceeds from the event go to the organization's scholarship fund. Last year two stipends were awarded, one to Amy Davis of Plano and one to Nancy Herbold of Allen. This year's gift is earmarked for a mature woman scholarship.

There will be three seatings for the luncheon, at 11:15, 11:45 and 12:15. Ticket price is $3.50.

The American Assn. of University Women will sponsor a salad and dessert tasting luncheon Nov. 11 at Holy Nativity Church.

Impressions

by Judy Monzingo

While I was casting about for subject matter for this week's column, my head began to pound, my heart to race and my hands to break out in a cold sweat.

It wasn't from the excitement of getting to write another week's worth, believe me.

It was fear for my life, health and sanity.

In a word—remodeling.

We're remodeling our offices, and it's noisy, smelly and sometimes frightening process.

The first few days weren't so bad. They poured the foundation for our new building, which adjoins the old one.

Next came the precast concrete walls, lowered into place by a crane, which is called tilt-up construction. This wasn't so bad, either, until they got to the walls near the newsroom. Sitting at your desk trying to write humorous column copy is not easy when all around you walls weighing tons and tons are being swung through the air and dropped into position, shaking the whole building.

One member of our staff whose desk is nearest the construction even took to wearing a hardhat for several days.

We thought we were through the worst of it when they quit walking around above our heads after they finished installing the new mansard-type roof. Not so.

Now they're working on the inside of the old building. They cut a hole in the wall behind Terri Anderson's desk for a new door on Monday. Tuesday they put the door facing around it, and Wednesday they got around to the door knob. All this happens during our regular office hours, you understand. All this pounding and sawing and drilling takes place while we are trying to conduct our business.

One day this week while they were painting, we discovered a new hazard. The entire news staff came down with severe headaches one afternoon, and all complained of a funny odor.

The culprit? This happened on Tuesday, before the builders installed the door knob on the new newsroom door, and paint fumes from the new building were coming through the door knob hole into the newsroom.

Now they're knocking down walls, tearing out counters and using the old newsroom—which is where we are stationed until our new quarters (the old ad staff offices) are complete—as a hallway.

I'm told they're also going to build a new wall, which should pass right through the middle of my desk. I have requested that I be notified in time to get out of the way, but if my request is not honored, and if there is no Impressions column next week, you'll know I have become a permanent, fossilized "impression" in a new precast concrete wall which passes directly through the center of the old newsroom.

Haints and Ghosties

Dracula, Jack the Ripper, the Mad Doctor and other assorted ghosts and ghouls will welcome you to the fourth annual Haunted House sponsored by Alpha Delta Lambda and Xi Pi Chi chapters of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. The event, which successfully frightened hundreds of Planonites last year, will be held at 616 16th St., behind McDonald's, beginning at 7 p.m. Oct. 28-31. Cost is 75 cents per person. A soft drink concession will be open, and a local radio station will be on hand to give away free records during some of the witching hours. A hanging in the gallows room, the Mad Doctor's surgical quarters and a monster gallery are included in the spooky tour, along with a few surprises. (Staff Photo by Richard LaGow).

Stitching

Witchery

By BETTY W. KINSER
Copley News Service

If we hurry, we can make something fashionable before it goes out of style. For example, the beautiful, practical, easy-to-make wool shawls. I think the fashion designers must have taken smart pills this season.

For your shawl, buy a square of loosely woven, soft wool. If the fabric is 54-in. wide, buy one and a half yards. If it is 60-in. wide, buy one and two-thirds yards.

Trim the cut ends to "square" them. Trim off the selvages. About 4-inches from each edge, make a row of machine stitching in matching thread. If you want wider fringe, make the stitching further from the edge.

Working one side at a time, pull threads to make the self-fringe. If your wool is loosely woven, this will be an easy task, one you can do while watching television or talking on the phone.

And that's it. To wear, fold the square to make a triangle. Scrunch up the folded edge to make loose folds. Drape over a suit, a dress or a pantsuit for a very fashionable wrap.

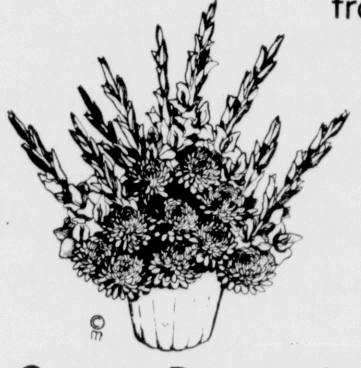

Underneath it all, no matter what you wear, you must have the proper undergarments. A perfectly beautiful garment can be spoiled by the wrong slip, wrong panties, wrong girdle (or no girdle at all!). Give as much attention to what you wear underneath as you do to what's on top. Anything made of white is going to give you trouble. Pantie lines show, no matter how heavy the fabric. Wear flesh-tone panties and girdles, and be sure your skirt or pants are not too tight.

Much can be cured with "pant liners" (another name for a two-legged slip). Not only do these liners feel terrific, but they smooth everything beneath them. Being allergic to wool, I have always shunned wool slacks, but now, with pants liners, can wear them again.

Half-slips are nice, but only if you can keep them up. Do not wear a gathered half-slip under a close-fitting skirt or dress. The safest slip is a trim-fitting full slip. The length of your slip should fall somewhere within the hem area of your dress or skirt.

The Visible Woman

By JANET LOWE
Copley News Service

His smile was a mixture of chagrin and pride.

"Most months my wife earns more money than I do. Boy that ticks me off!"

He went on about how rough it was to take a secondary role in earning power for a man. Yet he could hardly wait to tell us about how well his wife was doing.

He had persuaded her to go into real estate and abandon her secretarial career. Now, while they're still in their twenties, the couple owns a home and income property, and the husband, though he does protest, is less concerned about the uncertainties of his own career. Though layoffs have been rumored, and he hopes they don't come, he simply shrugs: "I'll find another job."

He knows they won't starve while he's looking, because his wife has been able to help balance their financial situation.

In the past year I've met a lot of couples like this. Oh, not exactly the same, but couples who have been drastically affected by the changing status of women in the work world.

Though the U.S. Department of Labor reports that females, on an average, earn far less than males, and that the income gap continues to increase, there are other factors that Labor statistics don't show.

Much of the income discrepancy comes from the large number of women working at or below minimum wage at such places as lunch counters, answering services, and day care centers. Another badly put upon group of workers is women with young children. Good day care for children is still so scarce and the cost is so high, that housework and child care problems often prevent young mothers from devoting enough time and energy to their jobs to insure success.

The bunching of women into low-paying fields and the lack of child care facilities are problems that debilitate the whole society, and deserve more time and attention than they've been given; even so, I believe progress for women is in sight.

The most encouraging change has come for women, like my real estate friend, who had been secretaries. As recently as five years ago, a secretary was a secretary was a secretary. Few moved into management, sales, or any other fields that could lead to financial success. Though change comes more slowly in some parts of the nation than others, it has been coming.

In San Diego, Calif., I met a trust officer who'd been a bank secretary and a stockbroker who'd been a clerk-typist. The first had worked her way up over a number of years; the second went directly from one job to the other, because her academic background prepared her for it.

At a Southern state capital I talked to a young woman who'd moved from a clerical position to legislative analyst. Not only had she taken control of the progression of her career, she'd made her work more meaningful. She'd left a job in a welfare agency to take one in the department of aging, because she wasn't particularly proud to be part of the de-meaning welfare system.

Career changes for women can cause some tensions, just as career changes for men often do. Not all of them are positive. A criminology professor at an Eastern university told me that after she'd moved to that school from California, her husband had left her, and her teen-aged children returned to California to go to college.

If her husband is anything like my friend who talks about his wife in real estate, the change did bring a mixture of feelings.

"You can't blame it on the job though. My husband was leaving me anyway, and the children have grown up. I can't tell them where to live anymore. At least I'm where I want to be."

Lou Glaspe, head of New York's Office of the Aging, and a member of Governor Hugh Carey's cabinet is typical of many women I've met recently. She lives with her husband in Dutchess County, New York, and commutes over one hundred miles to Albany for her job.

"I spend several nights a week in Albany, and I often have to travel to New York City or to other parts of the country. But I always spend weekends at home."

How does her husband feel about this? "He's very proud of me," says Lou, but goes on to explain that such appointments aren't made overnight, and she and her husband had plenty of time to discuss their feelings and make their plans.

"I followed him around in the early stages of his career, moving when it was necessary," she says. When it came time for him to make some adjustments for her career, he apparently didn't mind.

Financial Planning Topic Of Nov. Citizens Forum

Citizens Forum for Women will conduct a two-part presentation on financial planning and investments on Nov. 1 and Nov. 15.

The first session will be by Dr. R. Burr Porter, entitled "The Investment Scene Today and Investment Planning." Dr. Porter is President of Optima, Inc. and a Professor of Finance at Southern Methodist University.

The second session on Nov. 15 is entitled "Wills and Trusts: Guarding For Your Family's Future". It will be presented by Wade Campbell, Vice President and Trust Officer of Citizens Bank, Richardson.

Citizens Forum for Women is normally restricted to women only, but due to the subject nature, male guests may be brought to these two forums.

Both forums start at 7:30 p.m. Reservations are requested. For information and reservations, interested persons should contact Billye Meyer at 231-7171.

Relaxed living and entertaining is easy to imagine in this apartment with an open plan. Drexel's Woodbriar furniture provides the unifying forces for living room, dining room and study with its multi-purpose functions.

Decor Score

Plan for Open Style

By BARBARA HARTUNG
Copley News Service

Q. We have an old city apartment with many small rooms and high ceilings. We are considering combining our living room, dining room and den into a single room with an open plan. We will need new furniture because our old pieces are badly worn and were never what I wanted. But I am stumped on just how to go about buying what I do need. Where do you start? — W.L.

A. First you need to decide what you want in the room and what you will do in the room. Second, what are your special interests?

Third, you should plan the flow of traffic through your room by generally arranging furniture that will allow you to live the way you wish to live in your home. If you have a piece or two of furniture you want to incorporate, plan for that here. Now you will have a general floor plan, providing for the best utilization of traffic and floor space for various activities.

Fourth, give consideration to specific pieces of furniture, style, color and accessories which express your own interests in life.

When you actually start planning the furniture you will need in your open plan, consider that multi-purpose pieces are often most useful.

Q. I'm 12 going on 13 and I've decided that it's finally time for me to redecorate my room. It's fairly big but the big problem is that I have a double bed. We can't afford another bed so do you have any ideas? Is there anyway I could make some more room? Or could I substitute a bed with something else? I've decided that the main colors will be yellow, orange and maybe brown.

I have a large closet and no plan for it. It looks so plain. The same goes for my window which is also large. The carpet is gold. I don't want anything too girlish. This room should last me through my teens. — A.P.

A. You might ask your parents if you might eliminate your bedframe and put your bed directly on the floor. Cover the bed's box springs with a fitted double sheet and top your mattress with matching sheets, pillowcases and comforter as a throw. Choose a gold, yellow, orange and maybe brown patterned sheet and comforter design that you especially like.

Arrange your bed in one corner of your room so you have walls on two sides of the bed. It will be difficult to make but you will be able to stack lots of pillows and bolsters covered in the sheeting material or in solids of golds, yellow and oranges all over the bed and against the walls. This will give you a super lounging spot.

If you like, you could install a drapery rod around the wall over your bed from which you could hang pillows (attach pillows with tape strips sewn to the edge of the pillows). The low, loungey look of your bed should enlarge the visual look of your room.

When you find the exciting sheet design you like buy extra sheets to make a drapery for your large window. Or you could laminate the fabric to a simple shade designed for laminating. Or trim ready-made draperies with extra sheet fabric to tie in the sheet design. Take a design out of the sheet and put it on the wall. For example, if it is a geometric design, repeat a giant version on the bed wall. If it's a floral, sprinkle flowers across the wall by stenciling.

If you have an old chest, ask your parents if you might refinish it in your own way. Paint it, too, and decorate it to coordinate with the sheeting design.

At Style Show

Girl Scouts Entertain

Parents and friends of members of Girl Scout Troop No. 182 were entertained last week with a fashion show presented by the girls at Resurrection

Lutheran Church.

The models wore fashions for sports, school and parties from Fun and Fancy. Owner Sue DeBruyne was coordinator for the style show, assisting the girls with modeling and grooming tips and serving as narrator.

The troop is under the direction of Pat Kinney and Jeanne Tolzmann.

Our Children

By DR. WILLARD ABRAHAM
Copley News Service

Q. I'm so worried about our son whose behavior is very strange. He goes through the same thing again and again, like putting on and taking off his shirt, putting in and taking out paper from his school notebook, and opening and closing desk drawers.

We ignored all this for a long time, hoping it would just go away, but it hasn't. In fact, it gets worse.

All of the activity is absolutely meaningless, and I've told him many times to stop it. But he doesn't listen to me. He just goes right on repeating this stupid behavior over and over and over again. What can I do to turn it off? He is now 10 years old.

A. Such bizarre behavior is sometimes referred to as "ritualistic," as a person goes through a ritual-like ceremony repeatedly.

You no doubt should receive professional help for him, through recommendations from his school or your family physician. It seldom "goes away" of its own accord. In fact, as you've already observed, it may become even more frequent and intensive unless professional assistance is obtained.

Q. Our children are beginning to resent going to Sunday school, and I can't say I blame them.

Every year they go through the same dull curriculum taught by teachers who have about as much enthusiasm as a lump of clay.

My conscience won't permit me to tell my youngsters that this is all enjoyable or good for them or anything like that.

Your suggestions would be very welcome.

A. Many Sunday school programs have received modernizing, a kind of updating that gives them more vitality. You might talk to the director of yours regarding new trends from his or her national educational office and other sources.

Letters may be sent to Our Children, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column as space permits.

Are you the parent of a pre-school child, two to five years old? Send stamped return envelope to Dr. Abraham, P.O. Box 572, Scottsdale, Arizona 85252, for information about a monthly service that may help you.

For Sunday, Oct. 23, 1977

Oct. 23, 1977

Be prepared for a more active year than usual. Something big is in the offing for you that will expand your social interests and give you the opportunity for travel.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Channel your energies into something productive today rather than just taking it easy. You'll be happier if you're industrious.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If at all possible, try to combine business with pleasure today. You have the knack for wheeling and dealing in a convivial setting.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Family oriented activities will be the ones you'll get the most kicks out of today. Spend your time with kith and kin.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be afraid to make difficult decisions today — your judgment is extremely keen and you'll have the courage of your convictions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your financial prospects continue to look nifty again today. Keep on top of situations that could show a profit.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be too surprised at the number of admiring glances and compliments you get from members of the opposite sex. Something extra-special is going for you today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Doing things for loved ones is what will afford you the greatest pleasure today. Put their needs first.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is a good day to visit a male friend of yours who you've been out of touch with lately. He'll be delighted to see you again.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your ambitions are easily stimulated today if there is a possibility for personal gain. Something is brewing that should keep you quite busy.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Waste no time in acting upon information you'll receive today that can advance your self-interests. Speed is essential!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Underplay your role in joint ventures today. Feed the ideas to others, but let them take the bows. The only thing that's important is the results.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The spirit of cooperation is strong within you today and since you are so willing, others in turn will be helpful to you.

For Tuesday Oct. 25, 1977

Oct. 24, 1977

An extraordinary number of opportunities lie ahead for you this year. Consider all of them seriously. Your financial outlook is sound, but those ships on your horizon also carry rich cargo.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's possible today you'll fail to recognize something which could be very beneficial to your work or career. Procrastination could be your undoing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A drone today may try to get his share of the honey you've worked hard to accumulate. Do your best to keep him out of your hive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Pressing your need to emulate someone else would be a mistake today. He or she wouldn't fit another's mold any more than you would.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Though you get along well with most people today, avoid those with whom you've had trouble in the past. They could cause some problems.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're better at handling finances today than yesterday, and you could accumulate a few bucks. Caution: Don't let any bills become past due.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A good sense of humor and a philosophical outlook are your big attributes today. This is excellent — you may have some abrasive types to deal with!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If there's something you're doing that hasn't produced the desired results, get off it now. You can find better ways to deal with the situation.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Follow your better judgment and your instincts today. Going against either will create chaos rather than order and accomplishment.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You may do something that's a departure from your usual method today. It's a bit of a gamble, but if you're a good actor you can pull it off.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Before you play what you think is your trump card today, rereck your information. Others may hold higher hands and you'll look like the joker.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Depend only upon what you can put forth yourself today. Others may pledge their resources, but not be able to deliver.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Normally you are well-attuned to the social amenities. Today, however, you might handle yourself poorly enough to make a hostess blush.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Tolerance with others, careerwise is a must for you today. You could judge them a little too hastily and too harshly.

Beat soap stain build-up

POLLY'S PROBLEM

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — My bathtub has built-in safety treads that have a mildew-like buildup I cannot remove. I have tried using bleach, cleansing powder and a number of cleaning products but to no avail. Any suggestions would certainly be appreciated. —RUTH.

DEAR RUTH — Perhaps the stains are a build-up of soap scum that has attracted dirt to make it look dark. Try kerosene. Rub it on even though the odor may seem objectionable at the time. Then wash away with soapy water. If that does not work apply a poultice soaked with hydrogen peroxide and leave on for a while. Wash with soapy water after the treatment. —POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — When drapes or blankets have human or animal hairs on them I put in my clothes dryer set at "Fluff and no Heat" and find any hair will come off. After it worked so well on wool blankets I passed the word on to my dry cleaner. —CECILIA.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the numbers on houses that one is supposed to be able to read from the street. When I helped my son deliver papers on a rainy day I realized some numbers are the same color as the house, some are not visible at all and others are hidden by flowers, bushes and plants. How do such people expect good service from anyone when their street number is not plainly marked?

When you have stubborn rust spots on the car bumper or chrome chair legs try dampening a rolled up ball of aluminum foil with water. Rub with it until spots disappear.

If you are troubled with raveling buttons put drop of clear nail polish in the middle of each button to seal the threads. —VIDA.

DEAR POLLY — The raccoons no longer get in our sweet corn as my Dad has planted the sweet corn a little ways up in our bean fields for the past three years. When the corn is ready the raccoons do not eat it because they do not like to get tangled up in the bean vines. It works! —PATTY.

DEAR POLLY — For my 3-year-old daughter's enjoyment I carefully remove the labels from a variety of canned goods and glue them to empty toilet tissue rolls that I save. This creates her own "grocery store" along with other empty food boxes. I feel this is a learning toy. She arranges and stacks them up and "shops" with a stroller for the things she would like to buy. —CONNIE.

DEAR POLLY — When I find a hole in the ground from repeated watering of plants I place a used tea bag in the hole (or on top of the ground in a new pot planting). I then pour the water over the tea bag and have no more holes. —MARGARET.

Excommunication:

No More Holy Terror

A Holy Terror No Longer
By SYLVANA FOA

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Since it lost the power to burn heretics at the stake 200 years ago, excommunication has been the Roman Catholic Church's strongest weapon. Now its impact appears weak.

Past pontiffs could and did topple kingdoms by excommunicating delinquent monarchs, thus absolving their subjects from oaths of obedience.

Bishops once could isolate a man from his friends, destroy his business and even drive him out of town with an excommunication decree.

Excommunication instilled such horror in Holy Roman Emperor Henry IV, for instance, that in 1076 he humiliated himself on his knees in the snow to beg forgiveness from Pope Gregory VII.

But for most of today's 700 million Roman Catholics, excommunication — barring a Catholic from receiving the sacraments and thus inflicting a "spiritual death" on the believer — is a holy terror no longer.

"The religious and social impact of excommunication were enormous in the small homogeneous societies which exist today in only a few Third World countries," explained one Jesuit theologian. "Everyone would turn their backs on the excommunicated person."

"In today's pluralistic societies these kinds of penalties don't mean much. You might say excommunication is going out of style."

Because of its diminishing impact in the modern world, the church has become increasingly reluctant to wield its most powerful weapon.

But some excommunications are automatic and are thus incurred by the very fact that a person has committed a certain offense.

The 40 grounds for automatic excommunication include such obvious crimes as "laying violent hands on the person of the Roman pontiff," "casting away or keeping the host for evil purpose" and stealing papal property.

Other grounds are surprising — not in the offenses they list but in those they do not mention.

Excommunication is the penalty for dueling, for example, but not for premeditated murder.

A woman who has an abortion is excommunicated but a rapist is not.

A woman who falsely accuses her confessor of attempted seduction is excommunicated, as is one who fails to report such an attempt.

There is no excommunication, however, for the priest guilty of "solicitation" in the confessional, unless he pretends to absolve his accomplice in sin of the "impurity."

A priest who breaks his vows of chastity might be in trouble — but he is not under pain of excommunication unless he makes it legal by getting married.

The most serious excommunication is one where the culprit is decreed "vitandus" or to be shunned.

But with the exception of certain vile crimes, such as doing violence to the pope, it is rarely inflicted.

Church Notes

REV. JOE BOB ALEXANDER of Meadows Baptist Church has announced the induction of 13 young people into the Society of Distinguished American High School Students. They are Terry Gleaton, Nita Branum, Libby Robinson, Elizabeth Waltrip, Judy Jenkins, Brenda Robertson, David Cox, Sherri Davidson, Larry Reagan, Debbie Smith, Melissa Waltrip, Kim Miller and Scott Lee.

"THE ENERGY CRISIS: SOCIOECONOMIC PERSPECTIVE" will be the topic of Dr. Max Oelschlaeger, chairman of the philosophy department at North Texas State University, when he addresses the 10:30 a.m. meeting of the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship North at 10:30 on Oct. 23. Guests are welcome, and nursery care is available.

VIRGINIA CURREY, an associate professor of political science at Southern Methodist University, will discuss "Survival of Liberal Attitudes in the Crucible of Action Arenas" at this morning's 11 o'clock services of Richardson Unitarian Church. The group meets at Valley View Inn, Preston Rd. at LBJ, in Meeting Room B. The program is open to the public, and a religious education program is provided for kindergarten through eighth grade.

MRS. C. W. SHAW, a missionary to Rhodesia, will be guest speaker at Prairie Creek Baptist Church Tuesday, Nov. 1, from 7 to 9 p.m., during which girls and women of the church are to meet.

THE METHODIST MEN OF BRUSHWOOD United Methodist Church will sponsor a Sunday movie, Halloween supper and spook house on Sunday, Oct. 30. Participants are to come dressed as "scary" as possible.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale: Clergyman Extraordinary

NEW YORK (UPI) — During his most troubled times as president, Richard Milhous Nixon never turned to his one minister of many years — Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

It was as if the Watergate scandal and Nixon's ultimate resignation as president were one man's business, and not one for seeking religious counsel or comfort.

Dr. Peale recalled in an interview that, "Not once during Watergate did Mr. Nixon consult me. None of the family did. Nixon isn't the type who consults with anybody ... he keeps his own counsel."

"He has enormous strength ... when he faces adversity," said the minister who has been a friend of the Nixon family for many years.

To my knowledge, this is the first time Peale has commented at length on the Nixon Watergate affair. We talked in his offices in an apartment building on Fifth Avenue across from the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

"I knew his mother ... most of the whole family," said the minister. It was Peale who performed the ceremony when Nixon's younger daughter, Julie, married David Eisenhower at Marble Collegiate Church in 1968.

Dr. Peale recalled that it was in Nixon's days in the Navy in World War II and he was based at 90 Church Street (New York Navy headquarters), when "he and Pat started coming to our church. He'd come up after the sermon and shake hands ..."

"He became a real church goer when he was in New York practicing law."

This was during Nixon's period out of politics after he lost the California governor's race in 1962.

The clergyman said he had had one "friendly" note from Nixon since he moved to San Clemente, Calif. "And about a year ago I had lunch out there. I hear from Julie occasionally."

He added that the Nixons still contribute to Marble Collegiate.

I asked the clergyman what went wrong, how could Watergate have happened? He answered:

"I don't believe it would be fitting for me to comment on what any member of my church does ..."

"I feel a sense of compassion, of regret ... it's too bad. But I'm not one to throw stones and I never criticize from the pulpit.

"A church is a collection of sinners, all of whom are there because they don't want to be sinners. It is not a minister's role to exorcise. Oh yes, you take stands, certainly. But on principles and on your convictions, not on the individual."

We switched to talking about President Carter. "I believe he is a sincere man," said Peale. "I remember when Mr. Carter was governor of Georgia and I was a speaker in Macon at the Church of the Exceptional (for handicapped)."

"We were on the platform and part of the program called for a handicapped youth to light the candles. The child struggled forward ... so painfully toward the tapers ..."

"I heard the governor saying quietly to himself, 'Dear God, help that boy light that candle ...!'"

"I thought then, this is a man of heart and faith."

October is a special month for Dr. Peale, now 79, but as busy as in younger days with a schedule of ministering, lecturing, writing and consulting. The schedule involving both domestic and overseas travel would wear most of us to a frazzle.

Hunter to Speak

Dr. John Hunter, British author and lecturer, will conduct the fall Bible conference at Prairie Creek Baptist Church.

The session begins today, with follow-up programs to be presented the rest of this week at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. A daily salad luncheon will follow the 11 a.m. services.

Dr. Hunter has authored a number of books and has led Bible conferences in India, Africa, South America, New Zealand, Australia, the Orient, England and the U.S. He is from Kendal, Westmoreland, England.

DR. JOHN HUNTER

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale & Ruth Stafford Peale

SWEARS IN PRIVATE

Q. What is the best way to stop swearing? I have this problem when I become angry or flustered. I only swear in private but I still feel it's wrong. Often I become discouraged because I make a lot of mistakes or try to figure out God. I just graduated from high school, and I'm looking forward to college. Would you pray for me?

A. The best way to stop swearing is the same way that one stops drinking or smoking or what have you. Just stop doing it.

Make up your mind that from now on such a habit is out. The chances are you may slip once in awhile. But if with every slip you affirm the positive fact that you are now a non-swearer, your slips will become less and less.

As a suggestion you might wish to call our Prayer Line and talk over this problem with the dedicated and knowledgeable person who will answer our Prayer Line telephone number—(212) 481-1050. (Reduced long-distance rates are in effect nights and weekends.)

Of course you will be remembered in our prayers.

simply the victim of a disease.

All disease is the opposite of health and well-being and is the result of natural causes. God is on the side of good health and is encouraging His children who are scientists to discover the causes and the cure for all human maladies.

God is Love itself. You might remember also that He had a Son who was put to death and therefore He Himself knew suffering. So He shares our suffering even as He helps us move toward perfect health.

AM I PAYING FOR MY SINS?

Q. I'm 27, single and have an illegitimate child. We stay with my parents and I work constantly, on my job, home tasks and the yard work. I'm so tired, ill and depressed all the time. I want to marry, but mainly I want to move out on my own. I can't, because after paying expenses I'm unable to save. I'm in a terrible circle of money problems and responsibilities that started when my child was born eight years ago. My parents say I brought my problems on myself. My mother talks about my lack of morals to my daughter and therefore she doesn't respect me. I want a home of my own so bad, a home where I can relax and express my feelings and views. Do you think I'm being punished for my sins by not being able to find a home?

A. You are being punished by your own terribly negative attitudes. And you are never likely to get a good, loving husband and a home of your own until you shed that despondent negativism which turns people off.

You must change yourself into an optimistic and attractive personality. And that can be done by simply acting that way. Turn away from the past. Practice an outgoing, self-forgetting attitude. Live in the present with enthusiasm, and you can make a nice future for yourself.

HUSBAND SAYS GOD IS CRUEL

Q. My husband's 15-year-old grandson has muscular dystrophy. He has been for some years confined to a wheelchair. He barely has enough muscle left with which to feed himself. My husband says that God is cruel to punish an innocent child in such a manner. I know from the way he talks that he is doubtful as to whether there really is a God, who, to his way of thinking is supposed to be all-merciful. I find myself at a complete loss to come up with anything that will be of help to him. There must be untold numbers of people who are also asking themselves, "WHY, WHY, WHY?"; Can you give us an answer?

A. Certainly God is not punishing an innocent child. Your young grandson is

For Major Award

Ebby Picks Planoites

The firm's top 23 sales associates were honored with a newly-instituted major award by Ebby Halliday, Realtors recently at a special luncheon. Two were Anne Boyd and Henny Ries from the firm's Plano office.

The associates, from six of the Halliday residential offices, were initiated as charter members into The Diamond Circle. The Diamond Circle is composed of those sales associates who have reached the very top plateau in sales and earnings for the year.

"We have posted a record-breaking business year," Miss Halliday told the group assembled at the City Club for the awards luncheon, "and you are a major reason why!"

Also in attendance at the special awards luncheon were office managers and department heads of the Halliday organization. "We're all here," executive vice president Paul Hanson said, "as a direct tribute to the superlative records you honorees have set."

Each award winner was presented a specially custom designed pin with an initial diamond in it. Each year the honoree is named to The Diamond Circle another diamond will be added to the pin.

Miss Halliday explained that the honorees were the top 23 sales associates in the entire firm of approximately 300, "an accomplishment of which to be extremely proud."

Winners from the Preston Center office were Lea Avery, Sue Casey, Norma Corstaphney, June Feltman, Emily Gillman, Jody Johnston, Vivian Spohn and Sherry Turquette.

From the Douglas office the winners were Sue Callaway, Ruth Jaubert, Clarice Langran and Bob Thistle.

Winners named from the Richardson office were Margaret Buxton, Montine Haucke, Sandy Satterwhite and Alma Winborn.

Northeast Dallas office winners were Liz Potter, Barbara Reeves and Ruth Rivers.

Plano winners were Anne Boyd and Henny Ries. Winners from the Prestonwood office were Helen Bold and Brittline Hartline.

Ebby Halliday, Realtors will celebrate its record volume year on Oct. 24 with its annual awards-dinner at the Dallas Country club.

To Terri, Mike and Richard: I'd like to make a retraction of the statement concerning the Razorback and Texas game last week. Go LONGHORNS.....You've convinced me. Stay out of trouble this weekend.

Open House

By JAMES M. WOODARD
Copley News Service

To move or not to move. To improve or not to improve. These home owner decisions, translated into monetary terms, are more important today than ever before.

If the decision points to a move, the home owner will probably smile at the sizable chunk of equity money he pulls out of the sale of his home.

However, the smile may turn to a frown when he learns how much down payment is required for a new home that will adequately serve his needs. It may consume all or more than his beautiful pile of equity chips.

A home has always been a top investment for most families. But the impact of changing values over the past decade is an unprecedented situation.

The cost of living has increased about 82 per cent during the past 10-year period. During that same time, prices of homes have more than doubled.

That fact, and continuing trend, points up the importance of protecting that home investment. And, if possible, enhancing it.

Some families, after considering economic factors, have decided to improve their present home rather than seek a new one. This could be a good decision, satisfying immediate housing needs and substantially increasing their home's value.

Realtors Donate To Citizens Site

The Make America Better Committee of the Collin County Board of Realtors has donated a record player to the Plano United Senior Citizens site. The Senior Citizens plan to use this new record player both for music for their dining pleasure and for musical exercises.

The Realtors of Collin County urge all persons over sixty years of age to become involved in this activity. The program provides a delicious meal as well as a program and mental stimulation through fellowship with others. Transportation is available and the program is held from 10:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday except Thursdays. Call or drop by the Community House on J Place today if you are interested in being a part of this United Senior Activities.

The Collin County Board of Realtors has a special Community Project each year labeled as a Make America Better Project. Aline Dunn, MAB Committee chairman feels that the Collin County Realtors are proud to have had a part in helping the United Senior Activities succeed in Collin County.

SHIRLEY BECKER REALTORS Introduces

Gerri Clifton

Even though Gerri is a full time wife and mother with four children, two of which are twins, she still finds time to be a real estate professional. As a top producer with Shirley Becker Realtors, Gerri has proven she can combine family and business successfully. Gerri's ability to build a genuine rapport with prospects and clients is one of the real reasons she is developing a strong referral business. The purchase or sale of a home can be an emotional experience, making it doubly important to relate to the client and be able to clearly communicate. "Of course, Gerri says, any client wants results but they also want to work with someone they like and trust. That's one of the reasons I enjoy working at Shirley Becker Realtors. The agents cooperate and provide a friendly atmosphere and Shirley and Herb Becker operate with real integrity, standing behind their agents 100 percent. To list or sell, please call me."

AN OPEN LETTER TO ANYONE SERIOUSLY INTERESTED IN BUYING OR SELLING A HOME

Dear Friends,

When you're involved in a major transaction, such as buying or selling a home, you have every right to expect outstanding service. We're proud that we have assembled a team who can give you the service you deserve, and we want you to know what you can expect from us...

In organizing our company, we wanted to create the best possible situation for both sellers and buyers. That's why we selected REALTY WORLD - a new kind of Real Estate organization which benefits both buyers and sellers through the use of REALSCOPE and other scientific marketing tools. REALTY WORLD was able to look at the older Real Estate chains and select the best from each of them. In less than three years we have grown to a chain of over 500 offices in the U.S. and Canada, with 29 offices in the Metroplex. But, we don't think numbers alone are best for you, so we're very selective in picking REALTY WORLD Brokers. We don't intend to be an "Office-on-every-corner" Real Estate chain.

The major factors which influence the service you receive from any Real Estate firm, are the associates who work with. We've organized our company on the 100 percent commission concept to attract only full time, career minded associates. They pay all the office expenses, keep all the commissions, and earn a significantly larger income than their counterparts in conventional commission offices. Our associates average over 5 years licensed experience in the industry, and they will probably be around to help you when you want to buy or sell again in a few years.

We're members of the Greater Dallas and Collin County Boards of REALTORS and Multiple Listing Services to provide the best possible service in the North Dallas, Richardson, Plano, Wylie and Allen areas. Through our REALTY WORLD international network we can assist families moving to and from every part of the U.S. and Canada.

We selected the best possible location for our office - in a shopping center with plenty of parking. Customers look at our REALSCOPE display of homes for sale, in giant living color, day and night. This makes it easy for you to select a home, and gives an outstanding display of your home when selling - come by and see for yourself!

Yes, there's a lot to consider in selecting a Real Estate firm when you have so much at stake. Before you decide who will help you, I urge you to visit with one of our associates about your buying or selling needs - see if you shouldn't "hop on our train". We invite comparison, because we do everything the others do...and more!

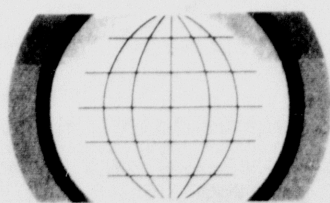

We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Randy Wright

LEGAL NOTICE
IMPORTANT NOTICE OF
PUBLIC HEARING
BEFORE THE PLANNING AND ZONING COM-MISSION, CITY OF MURPHY, TEXAS.

The Planning & Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing at 7:30 o'clock P.M. on the 3rd day of Nov., 1977, in the City Hall, Murphy, Texas, on the request of Loren D. and Marian J. Gordon for a change of zoning from "A" Agricultural District Classification to SF-2, Single Family Residential.

Being a tract of land in part of the Mary Scott Survey, Abstract No. 859 and part of the George H. Pegues Survey, Abstract No. 699, Collin County, Texas, and being more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the Northerly line of F.M. 544 with the Northwesterly line of the St. Louis and Southwestern Railroad R.O.W.;

Thence N. 89 degrees 33'40" W., 1592.15 feet along the said North line of F.M. 544; Thence S. 86 degrees 41'19" W., 325.27 feet; Thence S. 62 degrees 07'07" W., 140.53 feet; Thence S. 69 degrees 56'31" W., 330.58 feet; Thence N. 2 degrees 48'54" W., 444.31 feet; Thence S. 71 degrees 57'47" W., 153.85 feet; Thence N. 33 degrees 53'07" W., 414.00 feet; Thence S. 73 degrees 38'19" W., 208.37 feet; Thence N. 27 degrees 26'37" W., 214.19 feet; Thence N. 17 degrees 14'18" W., 73.22 feet; Thence N. 10 degrees 11'08" W., 776.58 feet; Thence N. 2 degrees 43'19" E., 292.35 feet; Thence S. 88 degrees 09'35" E., 353.92 feet; Thence S. 88 degrees 57'36" E., 468.94 feet; Thence S. 88 degrees 04'13" E., 1692.13 feet; Thence S. 88 degrees 25'52" E., 619.25 feet; Thence S. 89 degrees 56'58" E., 1101.78 feet; Thence S. 89 degrees 35'51" E., 1027.77 feet; Thence S. 1 degree 07'10" W., 686.42 feet to a point in the Northerly line of the St. Louis & S.W. Railroad. Thence S. 85 degrees 17'06" W., 109.34 feet along the said Northerly line of St. Louis & S.W. Railroad to the beginning of a curve running in a Southwesterly direction having a central angle of 37 degrees 17'06", and a radius of 1948.04 feet; Thence along said curve and said Northerly line of the St. Louis & S.W. Railroad, 1267.68 feet to the end of said curve; Thence S. 48 degrees 00' W., 1090.56 feet to the PLACE OF BEGINNING and containing 177.25 acres of land.

All interested citizens of the City and adjacent property owners are invited to attend this public hearing and participate in the same. Any citizen of the City and adjacent property owners may also express his or her opinion concerning this proposed zoning change by letter addressed to the Planning & Zoning Commission, City Hall, Murphy, Texas.

LAMB CURRY
Lamb is one of our favorite meats and the children always look forward to the curry I make from leftovers. Serve it on rice with curry condiments.
• 1 apple, diced
• 1 onion, diced
• 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
• 2 tablespoons cornstarch
• 1-2 T. curry powder
• 1/2 teaspoon ginger
• salt & pepper to taste
• 1 clove garlic, diced or garlic powder
• 2 cups chicken stock or 2 bouillon cubes and 2 cups water
• 3 cups cooked lamb, diced
Saute apple and onion in butter until soft. Sprinkle with dry ingredients, stir until smooth. Gradually stir in the chicken stock and lamb, simmer 15 - 30 minutes. Serve 6.
Tip: To serve Curry condiments simply pass little bowls filled with your family's favorites. We like raisins, peanuts, chopped hard boiled egg, chopped green peppers, celery and onions. Pile them on the rice and lamb. Serve with chutney.

Have a Safe Halloween...

Each year you hear of children being injured on Halloween night. By taking a few Precautions this can be avoided. 1. Accompany your children on their Trick or Treat Rounds-no matter how old. 2. Have your child carry a flashlight to avoid stumbling and he will also be more visible to oncoming cars. 3. If you must drive-drive slowly and watch carefully for excited running Children.

As an alternative-we suggest having a Halloween Party. You can find every thing you need in Decorations- Favors and Refreshments at your neighborhood Page Super Drug, Tom Thumb-Page Food and Drug Center or Tom Thumb Supermarket. So have a safe Halloween... We care about your family.
